Ike Makes Plea For Reelection

Maine "Cut Off Ike's Coattails," Stevenson Told

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson received party assurances today that Gov. Ed Muskie's re-election in Maine "cut Ike's coattails off" and increased prospects for his own victory in November.

That observation, by Joseph S. Clark, Democratic candidate against Pennsylvania Republican Sen. James M. Duff, summed up the expressed views of upwards of 200 party leaders who met with the Democratic presidential nominee in the Biltmore Hotel.

The huddle with Democrats from New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and West Virginia, with their total of 113 electoral votes, concluded the last of a series of eight regional meetings to plot campaign strategy. It was a closed meeting and reporters were briefed by a part spokesman.

Major Speech Coming Up

Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver, his vice-presidential running mate, were to fly later tonight to Harrisburg, Pa., for Stevenson's major campaign speech at 8:30 p.m., EST tomorrow at a $50-a-plate fund-raising dinner.

It will be Stevenson's first nationwide, all-networks, TV-radio address of the campaign, and will originate in the state farm show building.

The Harrisburg rally will be the last of the joint appearances of Stevenson and Kefauver before they go their separate campaign ways in a drive to make personal contacts with as many voters as possible before Nov. 6.

Adlai Assured New York

While Clark, and Gov. George M. Leader talked optimistically of the outlook for capturing 32 electoral votes, Gov. Averell Harriman of New York told the closed-door huddle that "New York will cast its 45 electoral votes for Stevenson and Kefauver."

Stevenson's press staff also relayed to reporters Harriman's assertion:

"Maine augurs well for all of us. People have seen what it is like to have a Republican party in Washington. They've had their 'change' and now they want the Democrats back."

Police Hold Man In Fatal Shooting

EDGEWATER, Md., Sept. 12 (AP)—Anne Arundel County police today held a 33-year-old former insurance agent in connection with the fatal shooting of a Baltimore woman at a Woodland Beach cottage last night.

Richard Francis Curley, Jr., was booked for investigation of homicide in the case and was lodged in the Anne Arundel County Jail pending a hearing Friday night before Trial Magistrate Norman Hazard.

Patrolman Lawrence Moreland, who had stopped Curley for running a stop sign, said he noticed blood on the man's hands and asked him about it. He quoted Curley as saying he had "just shot someone."

The patrolman said Curley led him to the cottage where he found Miss Joan Faye Landau dying of a bullet wound in the chest. Moreland said she was fully clothed, lying face down on the kitchen floor.

Members of the Woodland Beach Rescue Squad administered first aid until an ambulance arrived, but she was pronounced dead on arrival at Anne Arundel General Hospital in Annapolis.

Police said Curley refused to answer questions about the incident today and insisted on seeing a lawyer. No formal charge had been filed against him.

Rallies Party For 'Crusade'

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower kicked off his second term drive today with a plea to party leaders to "change a campaign into a crusade" and rally millions of voters to the Republican banner.

A crowd of more than 500 of the GOP elite cheered the President enthusiastically as he expressed confidence the party will win in November if there is enough hard work.

In a vigorous, happy mood, Eisenhower said "don't let our people down by writing off as hopeless any contest, by conceding any area. This is the road to stalemate or to defeat."

He spoke in a big, flag-decked tent pitched in a rolling meadow about 200 yards from his farm home.

As he had said in advance, Eisenhower made no attack on the Democrats. He left that to Vice President Nixon and Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the GOP National Committee, who also spoke.

Nixon Slaps At Adlai

Nixon hit out at Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, for suggesting, as Nixon put it, that there is no real peace and then suggesting the possibility of abolishing the draft.

"That," said the vice president, "is the height of political fakery and irresponsibility."

Hall told the chuckling audience that Stevenson and his running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, are out on "a strange honeymoon for the ticket that was united in the shotgun ceremonies in Chicago last month."

The GOP chairman also turned his fire on the campaigning of former President Truman, which he called a "travesty on statesmanship."

Hall added, "I feel confident the people of the United States will see through the sham and hypocrisy of the Democrat song-and-dance team of Adlai, Kefauver and Harry."

President "Feels Fine"

Dressed casually in a tan sports coat and brown trousers, Eisenhower got a rousing round of applause at the outset of his talk by reporting on his health.

He said he wanted to answer a question that many people have been putting to him, and then declared:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I feel fine."

In calling for a new crusade to lead the party to victory in November, Eisenhower referred to it—as he did in accepting the nomination in San Francisco—as the party of the future. He said it is best suited for the management of the American government.

Boys Not Sorry They Slew Father

NORWALK, Calif., Sept. 12 (AP)—Psychiatrists puzzled today what to do with three brothers, 10, 9, and 7, who admitted slaying their father and plotting to kill their pregnant mother.

Ten-year-old Tommy Parker, asked if he was sorry he and his brothers had shot Thomas William Parker, 31, to death, replied:

"No. I'm glad. Now he won't be yelling at us all the time any more."

Parker, a steelworker, died of a bullet wound in the head yesterday. The boys, Sheriff's Lt. Al Etzel said, hatched the plot while they were confined to their room for nearly a week.

The father had punished them for breaking into a neighbor's garage and taking some ammunition.

Chemist Held In Poison Death Of Young Teacher

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—A divorced chemist was held as a material witness today in the hotel room death of a young, attractive school teacher. Police said she apparently died after drinking a cyanide potion.

The arrest of Hugo Seinfeld, 34, of Manhattan, followed a changed version of the circumstances of the death of 25-year-old Avis Gray, of Brooklyn, the daughter of a prominent attorney.

Police were told earlier that the girl's death was the result of a double suicide pact but that Seinfeld lost his nerve.

Later, however, Seinfeld told police he found the girl's body after returning to his room at the Hotel Park Crescent on Manhattan's Riverside Drive. He said the girl ap-

AFL-CIO Board Decides To Back Adlai And Estes

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate, and Estes Kefauver, his running mate, were endorsed today by the General Board of the AFL-CIO.

The action was taken at the first meeting of the General Board since the AFL and CIO were merged into a single labor organization which claims 15 million members.

The board adopted a resolution saying "Adlai E. Stevenson and Estes Kefauver are hereby endorsed by the AFL-CIO for president and vice president, respectively, of the United States."

Only Few "Noes"

Approval came on a voice vote. There was a chorus of "ayes." Newsmen seated at a press table estimated there were about a half-dozen "noes."

The board is made up of officials of 188 unions, 29 members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council and six department heads of the organization. The total is 173.

No attendance record was kept, but a spokesman estimated about 150 board members were present.

The AFL-CIO Committee On Political Education distributed copies of a 12-page report that was termed an "analysis" of the platforms and national candidates of the Republican and Democratic parties.

It said President Eisenhower "has repeatedly expressed good intentions which he has not consistently carried out."

Ike For "Big Business"

The report said that, in the economic and social fields, the Eisenhower administration "has moved promptly and effectively to help big business." It added:

"In almost every instance, this administration has been hesitant and ineffectual in providing action to meet the needs of the average citizen."

The report said Stevenson "places human values first," and it added:

"He is devoted to the free enterprise system, but he does not believe the demands of big business should be given prior consideration over the needs of the people as a whole."

Water Problems Are Discussed By Governors

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Sept. 12 (AP)—Southern governors today wound up four days of conferring and politicking with a new problem they now think is the most important of all: Water.

How to conserve water resources is a problem that bothers all states but like most topics discussed here, once it hit Dixie it quickly developed its own southern accent.

For with the exception of the southwestern states, such as Texas and Oklahoma, most of the South has plenty of water. But the governors agreed every state needs to step up its efforts on such items as (A) clearing up polluted streams and (B) holding back the water that now runs quickly off and is wasted.

The problem obviously isn't one that stirs up controversy, such as the South's immediate concern over what to do about public school integration. The southern governors agreed, however, that water conservation should be at the top of their list of problems that must be solved.

Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina put it this way:

"Together with the soil, water resources represent the real wealth of a state or of the nation. If we squander or mishandle these resources, we can eventually bankrupt civilization."

In addition to putting in a full session on the watersheds, the governors also elected Hodges as their new chairman and decided to meet next fall in Sea Island, Ga.

White Pupils Begin Boycott Of Clay School

Kentucky National Guardsmen Open Classes To Negroes

CLAY, Ky., Sept. 12 (AP)—All white students and at least three teachers remained away from the Clay school today after National Guardsmen opened the school to two Negro children.

Mayor Herman V. Clark said, "We're going to have a policy of passive resistance. . . . White children won't go to school with Negroes as long as we can prevent it peacefully."

Clay is a farming-coal mining community 160 miles west of Louisville.

Maj. Gen. J. J. B. Williams in a surprise maneuver ordered 500 guardsmen into Clay from nearby Sturgis at 3:55 this morning. At 6 o'clock, he personally escorted Mrs. James Gordon and her two children, James, 10, and Teresa, 8, to the school.

Twice before mobs had turned the Gordons children back.

Crowd Is Orderly

National Guardsmen stood shoulder-to-shoulder along the road leading up to the hilltop school. A crowd gathered but it was orderly. The only disturbance occurred when an onlooker threw a filled bottle of milk at a news photographer and missed.

An estimated 50 of the school's 590 white pupils entered the school but later straggled out. By 11:30 only the two Negroes and teachers were in the three-story brick building which houses both elementary and high school classes.

Minvil Clark, an English teacher and pastor of the General Baptist church, said he and two other teachers had left the school at the request of a citizen's committee. He said they had been warned they were subject to dismissal by the State Department of Education if they left during class hours.

Teacher Would Defy Board

Clark said he was waiting to hear from the county Board of Education and "if the county board tells us to go back, I won't."

The English teacher said, "We're not ready for integration. I think it's dangerous for young Negro and white children to grow up together. Before long they would be dating and would intermarry. That would give us a mongrel nation."

"The people here in Clay don't hate Negroes. They're fine people. We just don't believe they should be in school together."

Clark said a petition was being circulated asking teachers not to instruct their classes during the current crisis. He said the petition would be posted in the police station.

Sen. Wiley Wins Renomination In Wisconsin Fight

[By The Associated Press]

Sen. Alexander Wiley, Wisconsin Republican and an ardent supporter of President Eisenhower's foreign policies, headed into a campaign for re-election today after upsetting what he called the "would-be king-makers" in his own state party organization.

Wiley won the right to stand for a fourth six-year term by defeating Rep. Glenn R. Davis in a breath-taking primary battle Tuesday. The voter turnout was light and Davis' backers contended the outcome might have been different if more ballots had been cast.

Results from primary contests in seven other states included these:

Gov. Lee Loser In Utah

Gov. J. Bracken Lee, who split the Utah GOP organization by criticizing Eisenhower policies, lost his bid for a third term nomination. Utah Republicans voted to try a political newcomer against the Democrats this November instead.

He is George D. Clyde, Water and Power Board chairman who said he is "100 per cent behind President Eisenhower."

Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture in the Truman administration, trailed John A. Carroll in the race for Democratic nomination for senator from Colorado. Unofficial returns from 1,667 of the state's 1,790 precincts gave Carroll 59,364 to Brannan's 57,757. The winner will meet former Gov. Dan Thornton, who was opposed for the Republican nomination to succeed the retiring GOP Sen. Eugene Millikin.

Georgia Demos Vote

Primary voting continued yesterday with Georgia Democrats deciding between two former governors as their choice to succeed the retiring Sen. Walter F. George. The rival contenders for the nomination, which is equivalent to election in Georgia, are Herman Talmadge, son of the late Gov. Eugene Talmadge, and Melvin E. Thompson.

The only other primary contests remaining to be decided before the Nov. 6 general election are in Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Andrea Doria Looks Like "Sunken City"

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—A Life magazine editor who went down into the ocean depths to view the sunken liner Andrea Doria says the former luxury vessel looks like "a sunken city."

"She is also pathetic and full of loneliness that chills the diver's heart," he said.

The editor, Kenneth MacLeish, writes of his experiences in the current issue of the magazine. He has been with a diving expedition which has been investigating the wrecked Italian liner.

The Andrea Doria sank off the coast of Massachusetts, near Nantucket Island, following a collision with the Swedish liner Stockholm on July 25. The Stockholm suffered a smashed prow in the nighttime mishap.

Annulment Sought By "Gussy" Moran

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Former tennis star Gertrude (Gussy) Moran, of lace panties fame filed an annulment action today to end her one-month-old marriage to industrial engineer Thomas J. Corbally.

Actually, Miss Moran's petition said, the marriage only lasted three days and even during that time Corbally "refused and still refuses to consummate" it. She said she was asking no money.

Since she retired from tennis, in which she won attention by appearing on the courts with lace-trimmed panties under her short skirt, Miss Moran has become a radio-TV sports commentator.

20 Jordanians Slain By Israelis

JERUSALEM, Sept. 12 (AP)—An Israeli force struck into Jordan today, blew up a fortified police post, and fought a furious two-hour battle with Jordanian police and national guardsmen.

Jordan military sources said 20 Jordanians were killed. They said the attack was launched by about 1,000 men in 34 trucks and jeeps and 3 armored cars.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U.N. truce observers, appealed tonight to both sides to end "this tragic series of events." Burns' communique added today's attack by Israelis appeared to be "an act of retaliation such as has been repeatedly condemned by the Security Council."

A spokesman at U.N. truce headquarters said 10 bodies had been taken from the ruins of the police post, a four-room stone building topped by two towers. The post was built by the British in the days of their Palestine mandate.

The battle erupted three miles from the spot where Israel said six of its soldiers were killed by a Jordanian patrol Monday.

The Tel Aviv newspaper Maariv said the raid was a reprisal "which should teach the Arabs that Israel's security forces are on guard and will severely punish every murder and act of sabotage."

New Evidence Of Lobby "Dirt" Sought By Probe

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) extended a new invitation today to anyone knowing of any "dirt" in congressional lobbying. He said his Special Lobby Investigating Committee would like to hear about it.

McClellan's statement came as the Senate committee wound up three days of public hearings with the prospect that Texas oil man Maston Nixon, who was the lead-off witness last May, may be recalled for further questioning next month.

Nixon, a Corpus Christi, oil and gas producer, served as chairman of the General Gas Committee. This was a signal-calling group for backers of the natural gas bill passed by Congress and vetoed by President Eisenhower last winter. McClellan said he may call Nixon

Western Union Rate Increases Are Authorized

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission today sanctioned a series of Western Union rate increases, including a hike of about 8.22 per cent for interstate press messages.

The higher press rates go into effect Friday. Additional price boosts on commercial and press messages between the United States, Canada and Mexico have been sanctioned by the FCC and will go into effect soon.

The Western Union Telegraph Co. asked permission for the new rates, to offset higher wage scales in the industry, and the FCC announced today it would not object to the move.

General Rate Upped Aug. 26

The boost in press rates comes on the heels of a price jump on general commercial messages within the United States, which went into effect Aug. 26. This increase averaged about 9.6 per cent.

Western Union estimated the new rates, including those of last month, will bring in additional revenues of about $10,293,000 a year. The company said it was allowing for some falling off of business because of the higher charges.

Press rates are special charges made for organizations engaged in newsgathering. The American Newspaper Publishers Assn. filed a letter of protest with the FCC last month over the new rate hikes but did not ask for a hearing.

The publishers told the FCC that in addition to the 8.22 per cent average increase, the new minimum press rate per message would be increased from 60 to 75 cents, a jump of 25 per cent. They cited a press rate increase of more than 45 per cent within the past six years.

Big 3 Propose Canal Users' Organization

Move Toward War, Cairo Says; Force Mentioned By Eden

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France joined today in proposing a new international group to run ships through the Suez Canal.

It would provide pilots who might be based on ships moored off the canal's terminals—outside Egyptian territory.

In announcing the move in the British Parliament, Prime Minister Eden asked for freedom to use British troops if necessary to keep the canal open.

Cairo's official reaction was quick and violent.

Col. Abdel Kader Hatem, Egyptian information director, called it "provocation leading to war against Egypt" and said Egypt would not surrender legal rights and sovereignty.

In Washington, the State Department after a day of hesitating statements, made it known that in joining the proposed association it had stressed cooperation with Egypt and participation of many nations.

Dulles To Explain

The department did not wholly confirm its participation in the plan — although diplomatic informants stressed that Secretary of State Dulles framed it—until three hours after Eden announced it in Parliament.

Then a department statement said only that Dulles would explain the U.S. position tomorrow.

Eden's talk about using force upset Washington officials. They quickly emphasized the United States is in no way committed to any military action in the event the proposed new plan fails to fulfill settlement is being considered.

Cairo greeted the Eden statement first with an official reaction that it was "only a sugar-coated threat of force."

The Egyptians were reported most surprised and disappointed by the news that the United States is participating in the plan.

Consider Recourse To Force

Because they considered Eden's move a recourse to force, the Egyptians said they were unable to reconcile the U.S. attitude with President Eisenhower's statement Tuesday that he did not consider the use of force justified.

Some in Cairo said they were convinced the Soviet Union would not intervene if Britain and France attacked Egypt but said they did not think the Soviet Union got into a conflict.

Washington's delayed statement rejecting the idea of force had not reached Cairo when these statements were being made.

Eden staked his government's future in demanding a Parliament vote of confidence tomorrow on his moves, which included joint British-French formal notice to the U.N. Security Council that a dangerous condition exists in the canal dispute.

Talmadge Heads For Ga. Victory

ATLANTA, Sept. 12 (AP)—Former Gov. Herman E. Talmadge, a vigorous advocate of racial segregation and states rights, swept toward virtually certain victory tonight in his bid to succeed veteran Sen. Walter F. George.

Mounting returns from today's state Democratic primary gave Talmadge a lead of nearly 4 to 1 over his lone opponent, former Gov. M. E. Thompson, twice a loser to Talmadge in previous gubernatorial contests.

With approximately one-sixth of the state's precincts reported—306 of 1,815—the count was Talmadge 82,009, Thompson 20,464.

At 8:30 p.m., Talmadge issued a statement claiming victory and expressing the "earnest hope that I always shall be able to merit the confidence . . . expressed in me."

Chicago Polio Slackens

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Chicago health officials reported today that for the first time since a serious polio outbreak started July 5 no new cases occurred in the high incidence West Side area.

Six new cases, however, were reported in the city during the 24-hour period that ended at midnight. This brought the total to 1,039 cases and 31 deaths compared with 265 cases and 7 deaths at this time a year ago.

92 Steps To Combat Delinquency Backed By State Conference

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 12.—The Governor's Conference on Juvenile Delinquency ended today after approval of 92 recommendations ranging from prenatal care for young unmarried mothers to rehabilitation of teenage offenders.

The long list of recommendations, covering all areas of delinquency, was presented at the final session of the three-day conference sponsored by the Maryland Commission for the Prevention and Treatment of Juvenile Delinquency.

The suggestions evolved from 14 workshops which occupied most of the attention of some 540 delegates who attended the meeting on the University of Maryland campus.

One recommendation proposed by a workshop of juvenile court judges and magistrates called for a change in state law so that a child may be placed on probation before he is branded as a delinquent, if his case warrants it.

The judges also proposed a state-wide law raising juvenile courts to the circuit court level. Five counts now have magistrates sitting in juvenile causes.

Another recommendation of the judges called for substitution of the word "person" for the word "adult" in the law dealing with persons contributing to juvenile delinquency so that the law will apply to anyone, regardless of age.

The workshop on police services recommended establishment of police youth bureaus for special police youth officers and all police departments in the state. They also suggested a program to train personnel for the bureaus.

A group on strengthening family life called for more adequate public assistance grants for families deprived of normal parental support. It said the need for decent housing, clothing, school and recreational requirements must be adequately met to combat potential delinquency.

Another called for more individualized attention to the emotional problems of youthful unmarried mothers treated in clinics so that their attitude and that of their children will not become a breeding ground for delinquency.

The conference also proposed that:

The State Department of Public Welfare assume responsibility for assuring that both detention and shelter care facilities, apart from jails or training schools, be readily available to every court serving children.

A person be available day and night in every law jurisdiction of the state to rule on the detention or placement of children picked up on delinquency charges.

A uniform plan be set up to govern releases from training schools.

Foreign Pilots Free To Leave, Egyptians Say

CAIRO, Sept. 12 (AP)—About 100 foreign ship pilots on the Suez Canal gave notice today that they will quit Friday night. Their withdrawal will cripple and possibly paralyze the 103-mile waterway.

"Foreign pilots and employees who wish to quit their jobs are free to do so," said a spokesman for the Egyptian Suez Canal Authority.

He insisted the canal will remain open and navigation will continue normally. He did not explain how this could be done, since the present force of 146 pilots is considered an absolute minimum.

The Egyptians lowered qualifications for pilots and sped the training of about 30 applicants, some of them non-Egyptians, to meet the emergency.

A high Egyptian source declared the proposed International Canal Users Assn., announced by Britain and France with U.S. support, is "a sugar-coated threat of force."

This source said U.S. participation in the plan might mean turning the Suez crisis into World War III. Egyptian quarters could see no way for the international association to work except by force.

The quitting employees left a strong hint that they expected to go to work for the international association, which will undertake to carry traffic through the Suez Canal.

Paul Raymond, French chief of the Suez Canal navigation section, informed Managing Director Marmoud Yunes that more than 400 foreign pilots, engineers, technicians and clerks of the old Suez Canal Co. are quitting at midnight Friday.

Among them are about 100 canal pilots from Britain, France, the Netherlands, Norway, Italy and the United States. There are two American pilots and both confirmed they were quitting.

Maine Vote Results Seen Spurring GOP

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) Senate minority leader, said today Democratic election victories in Maine "will arouse Republicans out of any complacency."

He told a news conference the results would "spur Republicans on to renewed efforts."

Knowland came to Columbus to address the GOP state convention tonight.

Asked to comment on Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche's hint that if elected to the U.S. Senate he might under certain circumstances consider voting with Republicans to organize that body, Knowland said:

"As majority leader, I would not want to depend on someone like that for a vote on organization when we can depend on George Bender who is right there."

Sen. Bender, the Republican nominee, is seeking re-election.

"Integration" Booklet Banned

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Orleans Parish School Supt. James F. Redmond has ordered all copies of the controversial booklet "The Rabbitt Brothers," removed from public schools.

The Citizens Council of New Orleans attacked the booklet as an attempt to brainwash school children on the issue of racial integration.

The B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League, publishers of the booklet, defended it.

Two copies of the booklet were found in a search of schools yesterday.

The story deals with twin white rabbits, one of which "tells unfriendly jokes about those whose color or religion is different from his own" and "crosses the street if a gray or brown rabbit is on his side."

In conclusion the "prejudiced" rabbit says, "I hate all rabbits who are not like me. Some days I have trouble liking myself." The other rabbit says "I try to find some good in all rabbits."

The booklet asks: "Which rabbit are you?"

In a directive issued yesterday, Dr. Redmond told school principals that publications not authorized by him are "strictly prohibited."

Teen-Agers' Arsenal Is Seized By Police

BLADENSBURG, Md., Sept. 12 (AP)—Police today held a small arsenal which some 30 teen-agers picked up in a junkyard here.

Recovered from the youths last night were 71 pistols, 2 shotguns, 3 rifles, 1 bazooka, 11 burp guns, 2 machine guns, 2 machine gun barrels and 4 broken bayonets.

Police said the junk dealer had bought the old weapons from the government and had piled them up in his yard.

"It was just like telling them (the youths) to come and get free ice cream," commented Detective Sgt. Emmett F. Gray.

Police said that a preliminary investigation showed that four of the pistols had been made useable.

Woman Figures Former Husband Owes Her $79,870

PATERSON, N. J., Sept. 12 (AP)—A Pompton Lakes woman figures her services as a housewife are worth $70 a week which adds up to a tidy $79,870 over a 22-year period.

And she believes she did enough bookkeeping for her former husband at the rate of $75 dollars a week to have earned $15,600 over an eight-year span.

Miss Katherine Mary Gerber of Paterson filed suit today for $114,813 against Jerome C. Gale of West Milford, a used car dealer. Their marriage was annulled in 1955, seven months after she discovered that Gale had been married to another woman in 1922 and was not divorced until 1948, according to papers filed in Superior Court.

Miss Gerber is also asking $19,343 she earned between 1936 and 1941 and which she claims she gave Gale to invest in the used car business.

Neighbors Help Ailing Farmer

CHURCH HILL, Md., Sept. 12 (AP)—More than a score of farmers and would-be farmers turned out today to get in John Bailey's hay crop for him.

Bailey, 41-year-old farmer who lives near here, suffered a heart attack while showing some of his prized Holstein dairy cattle at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium last week. The attack wasn't serious but Bailey will be confined to his bed in Eastern Memorial Hospital for a while yet.

Bailey, who has a wife but no children, had no one to do the work. The hay, valued at about $750, is what's going to feed those Holsteins this winter.

But on Monday, two neighbors turned out and cut the hay for Bailey. Then 11 neighboring farmers and an equal number of vocational agriculture students from Sudlersville High School showed up today, raked the hay, baled it and stored it in Bailey's barn and shed. The whole job was done in the course of the afternoon.

Seems we're getting less excitable. So far, no one has suggested that the 100-foot "monster" carcass found on an Alaskan beach may be a Martian.

Ballots Impounded In Close Maine Race

AUGUSTA, Maine, Sept. 12 (AP)—The state impounded today the ballots cast Monday in the still undecided race for Republican Robert Hale's seat in Congress. An unofficial tabulation put Hale out front by only 28 votes in more than 106,000. He had 58,027 to 57,999 for Democrat James C. Oliver who, while a Republican, preceded Hale as the 1st District's representative from 1937-43. Should Oliver be the eventual winner—the official tabulation, a recount or House Elections Committee action could change the result—it would be still another major gain for the Democrats in Maine's early state election.

Most Of Maryland Returns To Standard Time Sept. 30

(By The Associated Press)

Most of Maryland will turn back its clocks to Standard Time on Sept. 30.

The only exception will be the area around the District of Columbia. Because Washington is holding off until the end of October, Prince Georges and Montgomery will go along with the nation's capital.

Actually, Maryland will be an exception along the East Coast, which is following the lead of New York City and holding to daylight time until the end of October.

Baltimore, however, cannot move the date back, because the city charter specifies that Daylight Time must end on the last Sunday in September.

Statewide Civil Defense Exercise Scheduled Today

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Air raid sirens will shriek over most of Maryland tomorrow in a statewide Civil Defense drill.

The only exception is Frederick County, which was excused because it has a big parade scheduled.

The alert is to be sounded at 1:45 p. m. It will be a long, steady blast of sirens lasting for five minutes. It is a warning to civilians to get ready for further action and, if possible, to go to their radios for further instructions.

At 2 p. m. will come the take-over signal, a rising and falling warbling sound of sirens, lasting about three minutes.

Motorists are asked to pull to the side of the road. Pedestrians should step into the nearest doorway or building for the duration of the signal.

There will be no general all-clear sounded. This signal has been abandoned because the radioactive fallout problem would affect various areas differently. Radio reports will give the all-clear signals, instead, for the specific areas.

Talbot County Segregationists To Meet Today

EASTON, Md., Sept. 12 (AP)—Talbot County's new white Citizens Council has called a meeting for tomorrow to drum up interest in its campaign to "end integration" in the county.

There are nine Negro pupils in two previously all white schools in Talbot, one of two current integration sore spots in Maryland.

The other is at Poolesville, Montgomery County, where 14 Negroes are attending a former all-white school.

In Talbot County 101 white students were absent Wednesday from the two schools which have white and Negro pupils. At Easton's Hanson Street Elementary School, 95 were out. At Oxford, 88 were absent.

At Easton, Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Berry released a statement announcing the formation of the citizens committee.

The Berrys have been active in the Maryland Petition Committee which has asked the Talbot County Circuit Court to order the county to maintain segregated schools.

Berry, in commenting on the new citizens committee, said the petition group had centered its attention on court action.

"Now we're going to do something. We're going ahead with our plans to end integration," Berry told a newsman. He didn't indicate what course tomorrow night's meeting would take. He said it was mainly to rally support.

Berry is in the moving and storage business in Easton and Dover, Del.

A statement by the Berrys said Thomas Moore, an Easton electrician, was named chairman of the citizens committee. It said 14 persons are on the board of directors.

There are seven Negro pupils at the Easton school and two at Oxford.

Meanwhile, white parents who have objected to admittance of 14 Negro pupils to Poolesville school were promised a hearing by the Montgomery County School board Monday night.

When the school opened Sept. 4, less than half the students reported for class. Attendance since has increased to 582, or about 60 of normal.

In a sidelight on integration, three employees of the Montgomery County Roads Department were suspended for 10 days because they were reported seen at an anti-integration demonstration at Poolesville last week. Suspensions were ordered by County Manager M. L. Reese for Samuel H. Leith, Clarksburg; James H. Anderson, Poolesville, and Harrison L. Carter, Dickerson.

Talbot School Heads Pledge To Uphold Law

EASTON, Md., Sept. 12 (AP)—Increasing pressure to end integration in Talbot County schools was met today by school officials with a statement that they will "continue to abide" by their oaths to uphold the Constitution.

Paralleling a statement by the Board of Education that it would uphold the law was one from Superintendent of Schools Raymond O. McCullough Jr., clearly aimed at a white boycott of the only two schools in the county where Negroes have been admitted. The boycotters have grown in numbers recently.

"Absenteeism," said McCullough, "will be handled in a routine manner."

Dr. Shepard Krech Jr., president of the Board of Education, also cited laws dealing with absenteeism. He pointed out that parents who contribute to the absence of a child from school are constituting a misdemeanor punishable under law. The maximum fine for this offense is $50.

The game of jai-alai, which means "merry festival," originated in Spain and is popular in Cuba, Florida and Mexico.

B. And O. Freight Decapitates Man Near Brunswick

BRUNSWICK, Md., Sept. 12 (AP)—A man who sat in the middle of the tracks in what the engineer said was a doubled-up position was decapitated and mangled last night by a freight train.

State Police said Fred McAdoo Webber, 33, a carman helper for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was struck by a B & O freight near Knoxville where he lived.

Engineer Carl H. Eddins of Brunswick said he didn't see Webber until it was too late.

Eleven cars passed over Webber, a World War II veteran and father of two children.

An investigation was continuing.

Marylanders Urge GOP Drive "To Win South"

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 12 (AP)—Maryland Republican chiefs arriving here for President Eisenhower's campaign kick-off picnic today urged party officials "to make a strong effort to capture the South."

Gov. McKeldin, en route from the Southern Governors' Conference at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., said he was especially optimistic about Eisenhower's chances in southern states.

Besides the governor, other Marylanders attending the picnic were Miss Bertha Adkins, national committeewoman from Maryland and assistant to the national chairman of the Republican party; D. Eldred Rinehart, State party chairman; Charles Matthias of Frederick, assistant to Rinehart, and Mrs. Samuel Hopkins, secretary to the State committee.

"I think the South is still devoted to this man (the President)," said McKeldin.

Expressing fear that some party strategists might be inclined to minimize their efforts in the traditionally Democratic South, McKeldin added:

"It would be a mistake for us not to make a strong effort to capture the South this time. In 1952 there was a feeling that the Republicans should forget about the South."

The governor said he wrote Eisenhower a letter "pleading with him not to abandon the South" and the candidate later "did make a few trips in the South."

McKeldin said much of his optimism for the Republican chances this fall came from his observations at the White Sulphur Springs conference.

He mentioned Kentucky as one state in which he believes the party has an excellent chance and said he considers Eisenhower's chances good in South Carolina, North Carolina, West Virginia, and, "of course," Virginia and Florida.

"There is no doubt about Maryland," he said.

Fireman Goes To Jail For False Alarms

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Sept. 12 (AP)—Volunteer fireman Emory Radar aroused suspicion by always showing up first at the fire house. He went to jail today for turning in false alarms.

Police Chief Joseph Sieber said Radar, 18, told him he devised the scheme to get money to pay for his $25 fireman's uniform. Volunteers get $3 for each run, false alarm or no.

Sieber said Radar and a friend, Harold Blankenship, 19, called in eight false reports in July and August. Radar got 30 days and a $30 fine. Blankenship was given 10 days and fined $10.

It takes nature from 500 to 1,000 years to make an inch of good topsoil, yet reckless plowing, overgrazing or uprooting of natural cover can destroy as much in a year.

Harrington Assures Adlai He Will Win Maryland

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—T. Barton Harrington, Maryland Democratic chairman, said today he had told Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver the party's campaign committee in his home state this fall was "the strongest in years."

Harrington, here with other Maryland party leaders for a nation-wide strategy conference called by Kefauver, made the statement from his hotel headquarters.

The statement said the Maryland chairman told the presidential and vice presidential candidates that the campaign officials "will carry Maryland into the Democratic column in November with the same drive and spirit as the younger hard-hitting men did in the Maine election yesterday."

Stevenson told the Marylanders he will visit the State twice during the campaign.

As Ward Caddington, Montgomery County committee chairman, had announced simultaneously from Rockville, Stevenson said he will attend a Silver Spring rally Sept. 20. He also told the Maryland leaders he will be accompanied by Kefauver on a more extensive barnstorming trip later in the campaign.

U.S., British, French And Japanese Scientists Detail Satellite Plans

BARCELONA, Spain, Sept. 12 (AP)—U. S. British, French and Japanese scientists detailed yesterday their plans to fire rockets into outer space and launching earth satellites, or artificial moons.

More than 100 scientists from 40 countries heard plans for the rocket firing within two years.

The Soviet delegate, Dr. Ivan Bardin, announced only that his country is studying the question and did not say how advanced the Soviet plans are. He said they will be disclosed later.

Dr. Joseph Kaplan, professor of physics at the University of California and head of the U. S. special committee for the International Geophysical Year, and other American scientists spoke lengthily at the opening session of the committee's fourth meeting.

Kaplan described how a 20-inch diameter metal ball will be fired from the east coast of Florida into an orbit 300 miles out by a three-stage rocket. He said the "moon" will hurtle around the earth in a little more than 1½ hours, going 18,000 miles an hour at its fastest. The satellite will have instruments to study air density, composition of the earth's crust, cosmic rays and meteors.

Homer E. Newell of Washington's Naval Research Laboratory said the United States also intends to launch numerous other rockets from many spots to survey atmospheric structure, wind conditions in outer space, ultraviolet rays, cosmic rays and the Aurora Borealis.

James A. Van Allen, Iowa State University professor, said instruments aboard the satellite will transmit its information to ground receiving stations and no attempt will be made to recover the satellite physically.

Britain's Dr. H. S. Massey said the British plan to fire a number of rockets, especially from Australia, during the geophysical year which begins next July 1 and ends Dec. 31, 1958.

Dr. Takeshi Nagate, Japan, said his country will fire 10 or 12 rockets from Michikawa, Japan, between Sept. 1957 and March 1958 as its contribution. Father P. Lejay, president of the French National Committee, said his country plans to fire rockets from Sahara Desert sites to study the outer atmosphere.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—(INS)—Consensus of the reaction to President Eisenhower's appearance at the San Francisco convention—so far as the TV audience was concerned—was that he looked pale and unhealthy. White House aides reveal.

Actually Ike looked better to those at the Cow Palace than he has looked since before his heart attack of almost one year ago. If TV did him dirt, they say, it's because he now refuses to have make-up smeared on his face before an appearance. He submitted to a heavy "pancake" in 1952, but this time he finds it too theatrical to stomach.

Curiously, Adlai Stevenson resisted TV's cosmetics in '52, preferring his natural tones. But this time he will take the full works, including the eyebrow pencil and maybe a touch of exotico red on the lips. Ike currently is saying "to hell with it," but his stand is worrying some of the people around the White House. In view of the volume written about his health condition, his people feel it is a blunder to risk looking anything except in the pink of condition.

The speedy little Aero Commander twin-engined plane which the President uses on his hops to Gettysburg was given a grueling test before being accepted by Lt. Col. William G. Draper, USAF, the presidential pilot. Draper flew it from Tulsa to Washington on estimation of Nixon, the vice president said with a wan smile. Then he appeared to throw one of the heaviest punches expected of him by both sides:

"I don't think the most prejudiced observer would put Mr. Truman in the same class with President Eisenhower," he said. But when several reporters laughed at the vice president's explanation that his reference was not personal—that it pertained to their relative political positions in 1948 and 1956.

Closest thing to an old-time Nixon jab came when a reporter's question implied that Nixon's coast-to-coast criss-cross tour plagiarized one made by Adlai Stevenson.

"It will not be a similar trip," Nixon said, with a touch of fire in his eyes. "We plan to see people. Mr. Stevenson saw political bosses."

Judge Issues Court Order In Strike Violence

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Sept. 12 (AP)—A circuit court judge today issued a court order against three officials and members of a paper workers' union, forbidding the use of violence, threats or coercion against non-strikers at the Valley Board Corp. plant at nearby Halls-town.

Judge D. H. Rodgers of Jefferson County Circuit Court handed down the order following a series of outbreaks at the gates of the strikebound plant. He named John H. O'Brien, an international representative of the International Brotherhood of Paper Workers, John W. Bailey, international third vice president, and Anthony Kabolius, an organizer, in the order. The order also named 92 members of Local 475.

State Police and sheriff's officers had to use force yesterday to clear a path for a busload of returning workers. Two busloads entered under guard today. There was no violence but police said they heard threats spoken against the workers and their property.

The union struck Aug. 10 in support of demands for higher wages and other benefits. The company was closed until yesterday, when it invited all those who wished to return to work to do so.

State Police announced the arrest of two pickets on charges of damaging property and assault and battery as a result of yesterday's skirmishes. They were identified as Howard Shade and Ellard Dignazio.

State Trooper J. E. Durst said at least one other picket would be arrested.

Marine Gets Unusual Offer

Because he showed a high rating in aptitude tests when he enlisted in the Marine Corps here and after he arrived at Parris Island, S. C., for recruit training, Harry G. Kesecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Kesecker, 519 Patterson Avenue, has been offered the opportunity to go to Air Cadet School.

This offer usually is made only to men who have completed a couple of years of college training, but Kesecker's scores set something of a record for high school graduates. If he accepts the offer of Air Cadet School, he has a chance to become a Marine Corps pilot and commissioned officer, according to local recruiters.

The young man is home on 10 days recruit leave, having completed his basic training, and has been debating the offer for Air Cadet School. As an alternative he can go to Camp Lejeune, N. C., for four weeks advanced infantry training and then be further assigned to a Marine aviation technician school to study electronics.

Before enlisting here for a three-year-period, Pvt. Kesecker was in the local Marine Corps Reserve unit for six months.

Ridgeley CD Coordinator Post Filled

A new Civil Defense coordinator has been appointed in Ridgeley by the Mayor and Council.

She is Mr. May Alma Margherita, 29 Bridge Street, who will replace Mrs. Virginia Zimmerman, who resigned because of ill health. M.s. Margherita recently attended a meeting at the University of Maryland, where representatives of Homemakers Clubs were instructed in the various phases of Civil Defense work.

Parking Rules Changed

In other business transacted at the recent meeting, the Mayor and Council decided to allow parking on both sides of Lyon Street.

Some time ago city officials decided to allow parking on only one side of Lyon Street as well as other streets in Ridgeley in an effort to alleviate the traffic situation.

Residents of Lyon Street petitioned that parking on both sides of the street be resumed. At the recent meeting Gerald Spangler was spokesman for the group and the city officials decided to allow parking on both sides.

A red line will be painted about eight to 10 feet from the corner of Potomac Street along Lyon Street. Police Chief Harry Detrick and his assistant, Blair Haines, gave their August report to the Mayor and Council.

Police Reports Given
They reported a total of $370 in fines. Among the motor vehicle violations were 13 speeding cases and eight reckless driving counts. Among other violations were two curfew charges and six disturbances of the peace. Police also said they assisted West Virginia State Police at a number of auto accidents and also on road checks. Two accidents were investigated within the town limits according to police who also investigated a possible breaking and entering. Mayor Charles Fryer and the members of the council praised the regular police and the special police unit for their work in the recent Homecoming.

Seat yourself smoothly, and you make a pretty picture. Here's the Powers way to teach yourself how.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Sitting Pretty

Next time you sit waiting where other women are waiting, too, look about you. How many of the group would you say are sitting pretty?

And how about you? Do you fidget on the edge of your chair as Mrs. Flutterbudget does? Are you all angles like Miss Awkward? Do you slouch? Or do you match the picture of graceful composure that singles out certain women from all the rest?

If you seat yourself correctly in the first place, you'll not only present a pretty picture, but you'll be comfortable enough to stay that way, and to sit quietly is certainly one of the finest attitudes of a lady. To teach yourself how to go about it, practice this procedure:

Approach a chair from a slight angle rather than head-on. Start about six steps away, right foot first, and make first contact with the chair with the left leg just touching the center front of the seat. Your body, at this point should be nearly in profile to the chair. Pause to make sure your right foot is a pace ahead of the left, and to center your weight on the balls of both feet.

Now, controlling action from the knees, slowly lower yourself to a seated position with your thighs somewhat diagonally across the seat. Slide your feet directly to the right and hook the left toe around the right ankle. Meanwhile, square your shoulders and clasp your hands, palms up, in your lap.

You'll notice at once how serenely comfortable you are. Look at yourself, if you can, in this pose in a mirror and you'll see that you also look serene and poised as you can in no other sitting position.

$500,000 Suit Is Settled In Compromise

The largest suit filed as a result of the truck tragedy in LaVale that claimed five lives last October was settled out of court Tuesday afternoon.

The $500,000 suit docketed by Mrs. Willa Fearer, Frostburg, and her three children was scheduled to go before the U. S. District Court for Maryland in Baltimore today.

But Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, attorney for the survivors of Clifford Fearer, who was assistant manager of the Cumberland Steel Company, at the time of his death, came to an agreement with counsel for the defendants.

Sued were Ray Wells, RD 2, Dover, Pa., owner of the tractor-trailer; Daniel Motor Freight, Inc., Warren, Ohio, lessee of the truck, and Paul Stewart Wells Jr., RD 2, Dover, driver of the rig.

The amount of the settlement was not divulged by the counsel for Fearer's widow.

Conelrad System Falls Short Of Goal

The head of Maryland's Civil Defense Agency says the Conelrad off the air while designated AM stations have fallen short of its goal stations broadcast continuously and has asked the Air Force why from "clusters" or from single normal broadcasts cannot be maintained during an emergency alert. The report on the test shows that the state CD if one accepts "partially under-standable" to be satisfactory questionnaires returned after the nationwide Conelrad drill June 20, listeners could receive some information on at least one of the four Western Maryland counties, Baltimore City, Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Charles, Howard, Prince Georges and Washington counties. He pointed out, however, that modern defense tactics make rural areas as important as metropolitan areas, and added that at least 12 counties, including Garrett County, get extremely poor reception on Conelrad. Also included are the Eastern Shore, Frederick and Harford counties. Further, he added the most serious flaw revealed by the reports was that almost half the listeners weren't sure where the broadcast to which they were listening came from. (The Conelrad wave lengths are 640 and 1240 on the radio dial.)

Ewing said he "hoped the people understand that Civil Defense is in no way responsible for planning, activating or developing Conelrad since it is controlled by the Air Force."

And he added: "Unless the Air Force can clearly show that regular broadcasting systems would be a real factor in guiding enemy navigators during an air attack, I don't think one single American should have his only quick source of information cut off during the most serious emergency we have ever faced."

The Air Force had ordered elimination of normal radio broadcasting to prevent enemy aircraft from using station beams to guide them to strategic areas.

Ewing said he understood that aerial navigators do not require radio beams to find their way.

CD Volunteers Are Needed As Block Wardens

Volunteers are needed to fill one of the important jobs in Allegany County's Civil Defense organization—that of block warden.

William G. Barger, director of the county organization, said yesterday the success of any air raid alert, test or defense in an actual attack depends upon the automatic response of wardens to their duty areas.

The wardens, he said in a Civil Defense Week statement, are the link between CD headquarters and the general public. This is especially true in this area which is susceptible to radioactive fallout from large target cities. Wardens can advise residents when it is safe to move and what precautions should be taken if fallout occurs.

A warden has a responsibility to the individual. He must become familiar with people and features in the block for which he is responsible. He must be well informed on the water supply, special hazards, transportation. He must instruct people in his block on survival through shelter, training, radiation protection, alert signals and general Civil Defense instructions.

To get the know-how for this job, however, he must be trained. Barger, in issuing an appeal for warden volunteers, said a training course is to be conducted soon and "We need more volunteers to carry the CD message to every block and every home."

Arthur B. Gibson is coordinator of wardens for Cumberland and Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, Frostburg, is coordinator for the Georges Creek area. J. Walter Byer is assistant coordinator for Cumberland, and others serving in the important posts are S. W. Green, Frostburg; V. B. Koken, Westernport; F. L. Davis, Luke; C. C. Keyes, Barton, and C. C. Bowers, Mt. Savage.

A date palm comes to full bearing at about 20 years of age and ceases to be important as a fruit producer after about 60 years of life.

Boys' Play Ends In Trial

A game of make-believe that loaded feed sacks were Indians in need of stabbing, cost the parents of three young boys plenty of wampum when the trio was tried in Allegany County Juvenile Court the other day.

The three nine-year-old boys were apprehended after their "orgy" in a box car placed behind the Cumberland plant of the Southern States Cooperative at the north end of North Mechanic Street.

Lt. Bernard Beaky, officer in charge of Western Maryland Railway Elkins Division agents, said he made the arrests assisted by Lt. James E. Van of the City Police Department.

The box car was placed at the rear of the cooperative on August 29 and was partially unloaded that day.

The boys admitted they broke the seal and entered the box car, stabbing "Indians" right and left with their knives, the lieutenant said.

The slashing caused damage estimated at $30 which the parents agreed to pay the cooperative, Lt. Beaky said.

Magistrate Morris Baron placed the lads on probation for three months, with the provision that they meet the probation officer each Saturday morning during that time.

Injured Construction Worker Reported 'Good'

A construction worker at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, North Branch, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday after being injured while working.

Hospital attaches said George Mosser, 31, of RD 5, Fairgo, who sustained head injuries when he was struck by a piece of asbestos siding was in "good" condition.

Miller Heading Industry Phase Of Chest Drive

Joseph M. Miller, superintendent of the Elkins Division of the Western Maryland Railway, will head the Community Chest drive in six major industries of this city.

Lewis J. Ort, general chairman, said that Woodward D. Penler and Edward Ewald, co-chairman of the classified, or industrial division, decided that such a great amount of Red Feather contributions comes from the six industries that a separate leader was needed.

Miller has figured prominently in the employment payroll deduction plan for contributions to various drives at the Western Maryland Railway and is experienced in this field.

All To Use Plan

The six major industries are for the first time this year all using a payroll deduction plan or are establishing it.

The new ones include Amcelle Plant of Celanese Corporation, the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Cumberland Plant of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Similar plans have been in effect at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, and the Western Maryland.

Chest officials pointed out industry in general regards Community Chest service as an essential to community maintenance, and it is logical that the companies look on the agencies as another form of their maintenance duties.

The national feeling is that the voluntary support of the Community Chest is the more profitable way of maintaining the agencies and their services than through the tax dollar, officials say.

Steadily Gains Ground

As in the nation, this method of corporation contributions is gaining steadily in growth in Cumberland.

Today, Ort declared, 50 per cent of contributions in the classified division come from the six major industries here.

The payroll deduction plans in effect here are set up on a labor-

Two Ursuline Graduates Will Enter Motherhouse

Two 1956 graduates of Ursuline Academy entered the Ursuline Motherhouse, Louisville, Ky., this past week.

Both will be postulants for 10 months before entering the novitiate there. During this first year, the postulants will attend Ursuline College on the Motherhouse campus.

They are Miss Susan Haselbeck, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Haselbeck, Prospect Square, and Miss Paula Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Johnson, 30 Greene Street.

Miss Haselbeck was active in journalism and dramatics at Ursuline. She was the Ursuline correspondent for the Torch, which is published by LaSalle High School. She received an award at graduation for having the highest average in English.

Miss Johnson was active in Catholic Student Mission Crusade work, leading on various panel discussions held in Catholic high schools this past year. She wrote the Ursuline Highlights for the Cumberland Sunday Times.

Both young women were entertained at farewell parties by their parents before leaving for Louisville.

management basis, or on a purely labor-organized basis such as is in operation at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Ort pointed out.

Chest officials noted that the united funds in these plants call for small contributions each week which are not missed at the time, but which amount to considerable over the year's time. Deductions of a quarter of a week are the average, the officials added.

Ominous Conclusion About Brainwashing

Speaking before the annual convention of the American Psychological Association, an expert on brainwashing effects and techniques made the bold statement that the only successful way to combat such resistance-breaking treatments was to commit suicide.

Further, Dr. James G. Miller of the University of Michigan proposed issuing cyanide pills or some other lethal tablets to all military personnel entrusted with top military secrets, with instructions to use the pills rather than submit to interrogators.

This is the most ominous and discouraging conclusion yet reached by the ever-expanding field of brainwashing researchers, and one which undoubtedly will arouse much criticism. Religious action on the part of the government to order its groups, for example, will vigorously condemn any servicemen to take their own lives.

But apart from the immoral aspects, this conclusion indicates there is no hope for a soldier to rebel expert brainwashing attempts.

Much time has been spent on the problem by all the services and other agencies since the Communists first employed brainwashing on a large scale during the Korean War. Almost all servicemen now are given indoctrination courses on brainwashing techniques and in some cases have actually gone through simulated hostile interrogation.

In all of this the services have shown the military men what to expect as a prisoner, but repelling enemy attempts is largely dependent upon individual characteristics.

Dr. Miller, with his experience as director of a program for selecting American secret agents at the close of World War II to guide him, bases his suicide proposition on the belief that future brainwashers will employ drugs, electrical stimulation of the brain and other devices which cannot long be resisted by any man, and thus any knowledge contained by prisoners is capable of being uncovered by the enemy.

Controversial though the suggestion by Dr. Miller may be, the stimulated discussion which follows is healthy for it informs the public more adequately on the horrors to be expected in any new war. Furthermore, the Communists no doubt have improved their Korean War brainwashing style and can be expected to employ it along with any new torture devices they have developed, for they are a people who comprehend no decency in peace or war.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Careerists

Politicians differ from statesmen and idealists in the techniques they employ to achieve their ends. A statesman is usually a person of broad vision, of deep insight, whose devotion is to his country, not to his own career. The idealist selects, rationally or emotionally, a concept of life to which he is willing not only to devote but to give his life.

Politicians usually take support wherever they can find it. Few politicians worry about the means they employ to achieve their careers. As one politician once put it to me: he said he is a humanitarian; he loves the entire human race without distinction, particularly those who have votes.

Back in my childhood, I used to see the politicians buy votes. The going price was $2. A father with three sons would try to get $10 if he could, but the politician preferred to give him eight. Whatever the district captain could save from buying votes, he pocketed. Therefore there was fierce bargaining. Tammany captains were much better than the Republicans, because they could do favors all the year round, like getting a license for a push-cart peddler, or getting citizenship papers for a newly-arrived immigrant, or getting a bad son off with a suspended sentence. They could get jobs, not only politician jobs but jobs for unskilled workers on street cars or digging the new subway. Therefore Tammany was regarded as the poor man's friend.

Today a politician can do much better than outright buying of votes. He attaches himself to pressure groups of which there are all kinds. Back in the 1930s and 1940s, in many areas, it paid the politicians to be liberals and to serve pressure groups on that side; in some states, it paid the politicians to be anti-Negro as in others it paid to be pro-Negro.

To most politicians, no great principles were involved. It was a matter of common sense. The elements to fear were those that were organized and as it was not good politics to fight them, the smartest thing to do was to join them. When it came to a question of money, it was, in those days, and in some places even today, sounder to get money from labor unions than from any other source. The racketeering labor leaders have been particularly easy on the dough, but most of it was paid off "under the table," which means in cash, no record being kept by the giver or the taker.

The Communists generally support politicians who are non-Communists but soft for certain kinds of sentimentalities upon which the Communists can play. The record shows that this was not a haphazard operation in the 1930s and 1940s but that special Communist party officials were designated to discover individuals—careerists, they called them—whom they could make grateful and whom they could use for longer or shorter periods. The careerists were not expected to be grateful for too long a period, as it was anticipated that sooner or later they would find some reason for being grateful to somebody else, usually to a liberal millionaire who developed a private collection of politicians.

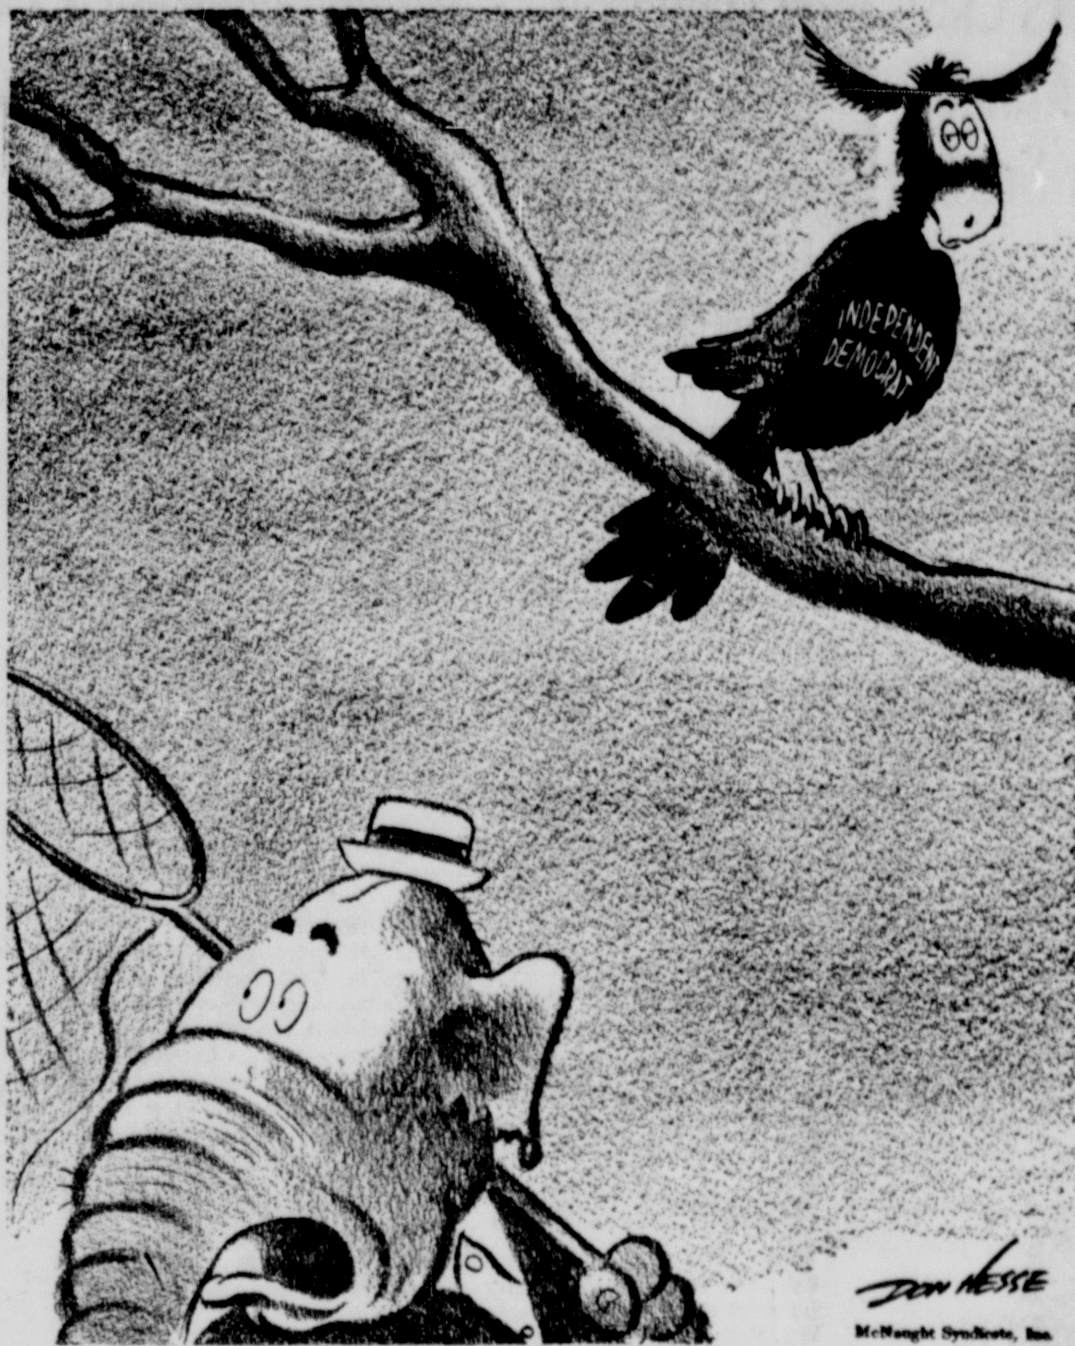

Sometimes it is very difficult to discern where a politician really belongs, but a clue can often be found by tracing down his press agent, euphemistically called a public relations counsel. It can at times be found that one such person is handling a number of people, millionaires-on-the-loose, careerist politicians, Republicans, Democrats, great public officials and even manufacturers and storekeepers. If the relationships are charted and studied carefully, a political complex is disclosed. It has even happened that the press agent plays a more significant political role than those who appear to be clients.

One problem that the careerist faces is that he might be embarrassed when there is a conflict of interest among his supporters. The Communists, for instance, have ruined more than one career by letting a man's connection with them leak out. But they do not make false claims because they realize that everything is subject to check.

Some day Americans will ask for a better grade of politicians, not quite for statesmen of whom there are too few and not quite for idealists who are very scarce indeed. But they will ask for a politician who makes his career in some way than by association with pressure groups.

"Bring The Salt Shaker Somebody!"

So-Called 'Slippery' Voters Could Decide Election

MILWAUKEE

By Stewart Alsop

If you spent a couple of days, as this reporter has just done, walking the streets of Milwaukee—or any big city—pushing doorbells and talking to people, you would find many persons with peculiar views.

There was, for example, the small, earnest, bespectacled man who said that the biggest problem facing the country today is that "they're cutting down too many trees and the land is turning to desert." (Could he be right?) Then there were several people who disliked Sen. Joseph McCarthy because, they said, he was "too radical." (Could they be right too?) There are many such surprises.

Yet there is a certain monotony as well. Over and over again, you hear the same phrases. One set of phrases stamps the speaker indelibly as a solid, unshakeable Republican, and another set as a solid, unshakeable Democrat.

Favorite Phrases
Here are some solid Republican phrases: "Eisenhower stopped that war, and you can't take that away from him." (This is the most common Republican phrase). "I'm doing better than I ever did, and I don't see any reason to change." "If his doctors say he's okay, that's good enough for me." "I don't like Stevenson's witticisms." "President Eisenhower is a good man."

Here are some solid Democratic phrases: "The Democrats are for the working people." (Of "the little guy"—this is the most common Democratic phrase). "I don't think Eisenhower has done too much." "He's a sick man, and it's time for him to retire." "I just don't care for Nixon." "Eisenhower is with the big shots." "Eisenhower is a good man, but..."

The solid Republicans and the solid Democrats are easy to identify, and you can be absolutely sure how they will vote—if they vote. But there is a third group of slippery voters, about whom you can make no confident predictions. Here are some of the favorite phrases of these slippery voters:

"They say the Republicans are against labor, but I can't see too much difference. Everybody's working." "I'm a Democrat, but if it keeps on the way it is I'm satisfied." "Well, we haven't discussed it much. It's summertime and we talk mostly about fishing and hunting and the Braves."

In this third group, you will often find people who combine the solid Republican and Democratic phrases: "Eisenhower's a good man, and he stopped that war, but the Democrats are for the little guy."

Outcome Not Pre-Determined

This third group is really what the current campaign is all about. For the votes of these slippery voters will determine the outcome of the election. And this reporter, pushing here with Joe Kraft, an able professional public opinion survey expert, is more certain than ever that the outcome of this election is by no means pre-determined.

Here in Milwaukee, we found very little of the fierce resistance to Adlai Stevenson among normal Democratic voters which was so evident in two previous pulse-taking expeditions, in the Chicago area and in Iowa. Now that Stevenson

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Campaign mention of atomic leadership scares an old air warden tanned by pocket searchlights and browned by cold coffee.

But it's an issue this fall along with stratospheric saucers and self-addressed rockets. The Democrats claim Adlai is the best spacemaster. He got his experience on channel five.

They're even trying to intimidate us with fall-out. Which is the best order we ever heard in the army.

Beginning to suspect the committee is doing its thinking in ivory towers. It's promised everything possible for this world and is taking in Mars.

The age of man is three score and atomic. Anything less than that is unconstitutional. Both sides are talking it up like a Fuller brush man with only the handles.

A door-to-door plebiscite of bomb shelters favors neither candidate. The guy inside the concussion alcove is voting for himself.

This is the first time a campaign slogan has been a chemical formula. It has been classified by scientific parliamentarians as the fourth dementia.

Anyway, an inter-planetary glass-domed yardbird candidate will attract no astigmatic squints. The fight will be over his vice president.

U. S. Strengthens Military Muscle For Eventualities In Middle East

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Uncle Sam is quietly strengthening his military muscle in the Middle East—in case Secretary of State Dulles' peace efforts should collapse. . . . The Air Force is readying tactical squadrons from the Ninth Air Force (Shaw Field, S. C.) to send to the Middle East. . . . Official story will be that the movement was planned six months ago and has nothing to do with the present crisis. . . .

The Navy has already beefed up its Sixth Fleet, now has two attack carriers, one cruiser division, three destroyer squadrons, and several support ships in the Mediterranean. . . . Army units have also been shipped to the Suez in case of war. . . . Battle plans have been prepared by the Joint Chiefs of Staff for any emergency. . . .

Meanwhile, the Suez is sizzling. . . . Suez pilots, who guide ships through the canal, are preparing to walk out Saturday. This would stop canal traffic, cut off valuable revenue to Egypt. . . . Communist countries have offered to send river pilots to keep the canal open. It is such a tricky waterway, however, that it would take months to train them. . . .

As a possible long-range solution, the West may build a parallel canal through Israel from the Mediterranean to the Gulf of Aqaba. . . . Engineers believe it can be completed in two to three years. Dictator Nasser isn't entirely the strongman he seems to be. He hasn't been dictator long enough to consolidate his hold on the country. . . . Nasser is having trouble with the WAFD, the followers of de-throned King Farouk who formerly were in power; also the Moslem Brotherhood, the right-wing fanatics who would like to gain power. . . . Even the starry-eyed university professors and students, who rabidly supported Nasser in the beginning, are becoming disillusioned. They have a feeling he has overpromised. . . .

Nasser's most serious problem is economic. . . . He has mortgaged Egypt's future cotton crops for Red arms. This has left the country with no uncommitted resources for years to come.

Poultry Scandal

The poultry industry is in a tizzy over the warning, first published in this column, that 26 diseases can be passed from poultry to people, yet only one-fourth of the chickens and turkeys eaten in this country are government inspected. . . . In an attempt to hush up the scandal, James Gwin of the Poultry and Egg National Board has mailed a confidential memo to poultry processors. . . .

"Please keep in mind that a controversial issue brought out into the open could, under certain circumstances, ultimately cause more harm than good," the memo advises. . . . "This is an inner industry matter," Gwin said. "Please do not permit publication of it in any form."

Gwin believes the best way to handle the adverse publicity is "the less said the better." He acknowledges in his memo, however, that the poultry industry may be forced to fight back.

What worries him is that publicity about diseases spread by poultry might reduce sales. He also fears poultry processors might get slapped with a rigid federal inspection program, which would raise processing costs.

Though few housewives know it, there is no compulsory federal inspection but only a voluntary program for poultry products. This means most chickens that the housewives buy have not been government checked for sanitation and disease.

No Blarney

This column has investigated a report that a Senate-House delegation will take off for Ireland Sunday to kiss the Blarney stone. The report turned out to be frivolous.

Six senators and six congressmen are flying to the Emerald Isle to help dedicate a statue of Commodore John Barry, one of America's great sea heroes. In fact, Irish-Americans claim he, not John Paul Jones, was the father of the U.S. Navy.

Meanwhile, a private "nonaggression" pact has been reached by the six Irish-American House members—three Democrats and three Republicans—who are going. They are: John Rooney (D., N.Y.), Ray Madden (D., Ind.), Tom O'Neill (D. Mass.), Bernard Kearney (R., N.Y.), Tim Sheehan (R., Ill.), and James Devereux (R., Md.). The latter, despite his French-sounding name, stoutly insists his forebears were Irish.

Republican Kearney and Democrat Madden have solemnly pledged no "partisan quarreling" during the trip.

"We are in the midst of an election campaign and the temptation will be great to engage in political bickering," Madden told his GOP colleague. "But I trust we will all make an earnest effort to forget politics for a few days and travel together in harmony."

"I agree with you," replied Kearney. "Let our flight to Ireland be blessed by brotherly love. That is, unless you Democrats start something."

Court Candidate

WASHINGTON WHIRL — President Eisenhower is mulling over a list of names to fill the Supreme Court vacancy. Most surprising name on the list: Ex-Secretary of Defense Louis Johnston, a Democrat. . . . Sparks are flying between Army Secretary Wilber Brucker and his chief of staff, Gen. Maxwell Taylor. Each thinks the other has been encroaching too much on his authority. . . .

Despite denials, President Eisenhower formally accepted an invitation to address the Carpenters' convention next month. It was Carpenters' boss Maurice Hutcheson who withdrew the invitation. Reason: He was sore over Vice President Nixon's renomination. . . . The Justice Department is trying to hold up indictments in the Chicago tax scandal until after the election. Too many high Washington officials are involved, a reminder to the public that tax scandals didn't end with the Truman administration.

Ex-Maritime planning chief James Mooney, who participated in recommendations that benefited Esso Shipping Company to the tune of $1,500,000, has gone to work for an Esso subsidiary. . . . Maritime Administrator Clarence Morse has assured this column, however, that Mooney did not have the final say-so and that the recommendations were approved by everyone concerned, including Congress and the comptroller general. . . .

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

The financial returns from successful song writing have reached an all time high. A man can become wealthy from writing just a couple of hits. Not only that, the income from an outstanding song will last a life time. Wolfe Gilbert is still collecting royalties from that lively ditty titled "Waitin' for the Robert E. Lee," which he wrote over 40 years ago. A song is copyrighted for 28 years. The copyright can then be renewed for 28 more years making 56 years of royalty collecting. That remarkable organization the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) has done much to keep the songwriters' royalties rolling in. After a man has written one successful published song he is eligible for ASCAP membership.

LYRICS
In addition to mastering a musical instrument, the aspiring song writer should study poetry. Even to the extent of taking a course in poetry writing. Dorothy Fields, one of the most successful of present day song writers, originally wrote magazine poetry. As you probably know, Dorothy wrote such hits as "I Can't Give You Anything but Love, Baby," "Exactly Like You," "Lovely To Look At" and "I'm in the Mood for Love." Irving Berlin was originally a poet. The idea of writing songs came to him later. Incidentally, those two perennially popular songs, "Jest A-Wearyin' for You" and "Mighty Lak' a Rose," were from poems by Frank L. Stanton. Carrie Jacobs Bond just wrote the music for these two classics.

PLEASE NOTE
In Great Britain there are over 1,000 amateur tobacco growers. They grow pipe tobacco in their backyards. I wonder how you grow tobacco suitable for cigar and stogie making. I may have to start growing tobacco in my backyard if the clients keep taking me for stogies the way they have been doing lately.

PASSING BY
Bob Considine. Distinguished foreign correspondent, star reporter, sports writer, novelist, short story writer, biographer and radio and television broadcaster. It makes me feel tired to even think of how much work Bob does. He is also the proud papa of four children. A remarkable fellow.

SIDEGLISTS
A Frankfurt, Germany, newspaper recently said Joan Crawford was 50. Joan was highly indignant. "That's insulting," she said. "I am only 49." . . . Now they are giving feminine names to typhoons. As for example, "Typhoon Wanda" which in China caused the death of 100 people, injured 600 and blew down 320 houses.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL
It is reported that on her trip to England, Marilyn Monroe brought along 6,000 vitamin pills. These pills are said to have cost Miss Monroe about $1,000. . . . Am asked what is the largest hotel in New York City. It is the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn. Largest hotel in Manhattan is the New Yorker.

AMONG THE MARRIED
"Should a girl of 19 marry a man of 32?" Such is a query noted. That's a foolish question. There have been millions of happy marriages in that age group. All experts on the subject seem agreed that 18 or 19 is the ideal age for a young woman to marry. Alas that she should marry a man somewhat older. Some experts say seven years older is about right. However, Aristotle said, "It is fitting for the women to be married at about the age of 18, and the men at 37, or a little before."

BRIEFLY
Excepting Irishmen, the French bachelors are hardest to get into matrimonial harness. Although she can be legally married at the age of 15, the average Frenchwoman does not capture a husband until she is 25. . . . Paris, with a population of 6,300,000, is the fourth largest city in the world. New York is the world's largest city followed in order named by London, Tokyo, Paris and Moscow.

Racketeers are shaking 'em down for protection, stall owners in Mexico City's thieves' market have complained to police. Sounds like it might be too "hot" a case for even the cops to handle.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

In a book called "Say It Ain't So," Mac Davis tells about a kid in a Missouri town who was crazy about baseball. He was always begging the older and huskier lads to give him a chance in the outfield. "You won't do," they kept telling him. "Your eyes aren't good enough. We can't use a kid on our team who has to wear glasses. If you must do something, get out there and umpire."

So he went out and tried umpiring. At first, he got into lots of hot water, but gradually the other kids came to accept his decisions. It was mighty good training for him. The kid was Harry Truman—long before Washington, D. C., Potsdam, London, Oxford, and—Chicago, 1956.

Playing golf, the curvaceous Mrs. Manges hit a niblick shot far beyond the second green. "What did

I do wrong?" she asked her husband, a prominent attorney. "You didn't dig deep enough," he explained. "You only took af-fadavit." The penalty of this sort of thing at most clubs is two strokes and distance.

On any given day, 14 out of 100 persons 65 or older become disabled. But then, five out of every 100 in the general population do the same. On the other hand, sickness and disability are not as great a problem to the older as he thinks. True, he is closer to his last illness than is the youngster.

But not all oldsters stay awake at night thinking about their sojourn with the grim reaper. There are "worry warts" in every age group and men and women who were overly concerned with dying when they were 40 do not change when they become old and frail.

Disorders that plague the golden years often can be corrected or brought under control. These include many disorders of the heart, prostate, eyes, and the urinary tract as well as diseases like high blood pressure, diabetes, and arthritis.

Treatment brings relief of the disabilities associated with these conditions such as pain, aching, generalized weakness, shortness of breath, dizziness, lack of endurance, urinary frequency, and visual changes.

TOMORROW: An emergency artificial kidney.
BABY'S BUMPS
A. B. H. writes: Could a 9-month-old baby be seriously hurt by falling on his head from a sofa onto a carpeted floor?

REPLY
Yes, but babies escape injury so often after falls and bumps that their guardian angel must protect them from harm. Their bones are soft and the force of the fall is not great because of their small weight.

The next tournaments to be conducted in West Virginia will be at Weirton, September 29-30 and at Charleston on September 16.

773 Students At Mt. Savage Begin Classes, Activities

MT. SAVAGE — Summer vacation ended for 773 students as they arrived at Mt. Savage School on September 6. High school students went to the auditorium for opening exercises and home room assignment, while elementary students went directly to preassigned rooms.

School officially opened with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" under the direction of Alfred Snyder, music director. Students were welcomed and new teachers introduced by Alfred Benna, principal. To emphasize the value of a high school education and the need for doing one's best in school, Miss Esther Carter, visiting teacher, gave a talk.

Miss Carter gave the pertinent examples of problems encountered by local individuals in industry who had dropped out before finishing high school. Typical actions leading up to a student dropping out of school were given.

Enrollment in the elementary school numbered: First Grade 51, Second Grade 51, Third Grade 51, Fourth Grade 55, Fifth Grade 60, Sixth Grade 48, with a total of 316.

In Junior High there were: Seventh Grade 60, Eighth Grade 77, Ninth Grade 103, with a total of 240. Senior High showed: Tenth Grade 75, Eleventh Grade 77, Twelfth Grade 65, with a total of 217. Total enrollment for the school was 773.

The faculty and the custodians of the Mt. Savage School were guests of the cafeteria personnel at a luncheon, September 7 in the school cafeteria.

The new teachers for the 1956-1957 school year were introduced by Mr. Benna. Mrs. Robert Rizer, the new cafeteria manager, in turn, introduced the cafeteria workers. They are Mrs. Anna Winebrenner, Mrs. Jane Dorman, Mrs. Gridget Williams and Mrs. Martha Orndoff.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12 (INS)—Deborah Kerr is a lady to whom traveling poses no problem, so if the script of "Rachel Cade" measures up to the book she'll go to the Belgian Congo. I talked with Debbie just before she left New York for Trinidad to star in "Heaven Knows Mr. Allison," and she said she had lunched with William Dozier who asked her to star in "Rachel Cade."

"Tony (Bartley) says if I go to the Congo he'll go right along with me," said Debbie, "and I must say I am intrigued with the story of 'Rachel Cade' which is the literary Guild selection for October."

Deborah said she had to send her two girls back to California and that is the only sad part about spending two months on location in Trinidad.

In Stephen Longstreet's book based on the career of Jockey Billy Pearson, he tells how Billy became interested in art. It happened when John Huston told Billy he would give him Renoir painting if he won a certain race for him. Billy never had heard of the artist and asked for $500 instead. But after winning the race he learned that the Renoir was worth $8,000.

That was the beginning of his interest in art, which won him a fortune on the $64,000 question show.

John is now readying the galley proofs of the Pearson biography, to be published by Simon and Schuster, and he plans to make it as a motion picture with Billy having an important role, of course.

There's a goose which certainly will lay a golden egg for "Friendly Persuasion," William Wyler's warm and charming comedy. Although Gary Cooper, Dorothy McGuire and Marjorie Main give fine performances, it is a goose named Samantha and a little boy, Richard Eyer, who all but steal the picture with their hilarious scenes.

Wyler has won two coveted Oscars in the past and has been nominated often for his direction, but how he could get this performance out of the goose named Samantha is beyond me. Gary is as good as he was in "High Noon"—and that's plenty good.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

There will be no marriage this coming Sunday for Bing Crosby and Kathy Grant. He's putting on a benefit for the Fall River Mills Hospital with singer Lucille Norman.

David Myers, editor of Modern Screen, and his pretty bride arrive in our town tomorrow.

On Oct. 15, Willie Wyler makes his TV debut directing "The Letter," the Somerset Maugham story which starred Bette Davis.

The autograph hounds mobbed Natalie Wood and Elvis "Wiggly" Presley, who were together again at the preview of "Friendly Persuasion."

The redhead with Dick Haymes at the Gourmet Beverly is Kitty Kelly Tannenbaum. Apropos of this duo, Jackie Loughery wires: "Dick and I are no longer a romantic duo. I'm in New York and very busy."

Well, here comes Bob Neal with a new date. He was at the Captain's Table with Heidi Mullinger, pretty sister of Donna Reed.

Attractive Monaise Marsh was the guest of honor at a small cocktail party Maggie Etlinger gave in her home. Monaise inherits her unusual name from her French grandmother.

It's a nine pound two ounce girl—wow!—for Stan Kenton and his wife. Stan is the orchestra leader now packing them into Zardi's Jazzland.

Tomorrow Mrs. Alan Baxter, wife of the actor, goes into Good Samaritan for surgery.

It was three years of marriage today for the John Ericsons, and 28 years in show business for the Ritz brothers, currently at the Flamingo in Las Vegas.

Bessie Love has been added to the cast of "Esther Costello," and Joan Crawford writes that Bessie is excellent.

Jeff Morrow feels honored to have the producers of "Crossroads" select him for their special holiday show "Thanksgiving Prayer."

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Stray Dog Rescued From Bridge Here

One Time Change Set By Railroad

The B&O Railroad plans one train change here when Daylight Savings Time ends September 30, but said more will be made October 28 when DST comes to a close in metropolitan areas.

The one change here on September 30 will affect eastbound train No. 22 from Cumberland to Baltimore which presently leaves at 2:25 (EST) p. m. M. W. Grove, district passenger agent, said the absolute time change has not been established but it will leave approximately 45 minutes later when fast time ends.

A number of U. S. metropolitan centers have extended daylight time to October 28 or one month longer than will be in effect here.

When fast time expires next month, "more than minor adjustments" will be made in the B&O schedule. Grove added.

Old Sea Dog Romps To Win In The Inaugural At Fairgo

Bonally Boy Cops Opener, Pays $18.80

Top Choices Annex Four; Double $124; Betting Up $4,611

Covering the 6 1/2 furlongs in 1:22 2/5, two seconds off the track record established here 15 years ago, David A. Livingston's Old Sea Dog, three-year-old chestnut son of Astral, romped to victory by the margin of 3 1/2 lengths over Toy Knightess to annex the major portion of the $1,200 purse in The Inaugural, the featured seventh event on the card as the Cumberland Fair Association launched its first 12-day racing meet yesterday at Fairgo before approximately 5,000 spectators.

Old Sea Dog, trained by Kenneth McLaughlin, and ridden by the elongated Richard Bell, was the class of this seven-horse field and his time probably was the best turned in at the local half miler since Royal Business hung up the record of 1:20 2/5 for the distance August 9, 1941. The Livingston ace was a three-times winner at Waterford Park and also won at Ascot Park, Ohio, this year. Old Sea Dog's $3.80 for $2 was the shortest price of the day.

Three Outsiders Score

The opening day's program, marking the 32nd consecutive year of racing here, started off with outsiders grabbing the first three purses but after the fourth event the favorites took over for the remainder of the afternoon.

Alfred W. Williams' Bonally Boy, with the veteran Raymond "Skeets" Holland in saddle, took the opening number, a 6 1/2 furlongs affair for maiden three-year-olds, scoring over Hachief by 1 1/2 lengths with Discount earning show money. King's Jacoby, the favorite, was fourth. Backers of Bonally Boy received $18.80 was each $2 played on the nose of the three-year-old Havestille gelding. Double Pays $124.

Bonally Boy, coupled in the betting with William D. Groves' Compass, victor in the second race, returned $124 for 2-4 in the daily double. The double pool of $15,504 was off $1,674 compared to the figures on opening day in June, 1955.

Compass, a 4-year-old colt, with Joe Snyder aboard, whipped Hero's Folly and Defenseless, a $15.80 mutual payoff on Compass was flashed on the tote board.

Good prices continued to prevail as Ewart Johnston's Chin Wag, ridden by Charles M. Clark, raced home ahead of Pilate Queen in the third and returned $13.40 for $2. Nobena took show money in the field of eight. This was the first photo for win race on opening game.

Pinet Vendor, second choice in the betting, registered a five lengths victory over Softly in the fourth number while Close Attack, the public choice came in third. The win was worth $6.80 to $2 bettors.

Two Straight For Russo

Anthony "Tony" Russo, Baltimore saddlesmith, made it two in a row when he also booted home David G. Neuman's Silver Blue, a 6-year-old gray mare, ahead of Broom Party by 1 1/2 lengths in the fifth. Silver Blue was the first favorite to register on the afternoon's card and paid $4.60.

Bristol Joe won in easy fashion over Hunter's Union and Star Workshop in the sixth race, the first mile and a sixteenth event of the day. With Freddie Kratz in the pilot house, Harry Dorsey's 6-year-old gelding stepped off the distance in 1:53 and won by the decisive margin of six lengths. He rewarded his backers with $6.40 for each $2 invested.

After Old Sea Dog took the 7th, Mrs. Viola Follin's Basically, 8-year-old daughter of Bimelich, gave the favorites a .500 average for the day by whipping a field of three-year-olds and upward in the finale. With Charley Clark atop, Basically loved up strongly after five eighths of a mile and won over Elvie H. by 1 1/2 lengths. Dutch King was third $5.20.

Charley Clark and Russo shared riding honors with two winners each. Eight different first day of the meet which runs trainers saddled winners on the through September 25.

Handle Is Up $4,611 The mutual handle for the right races was $160,505 and that was $4,611 more than was wagered on the first day of 10-day session here last year.

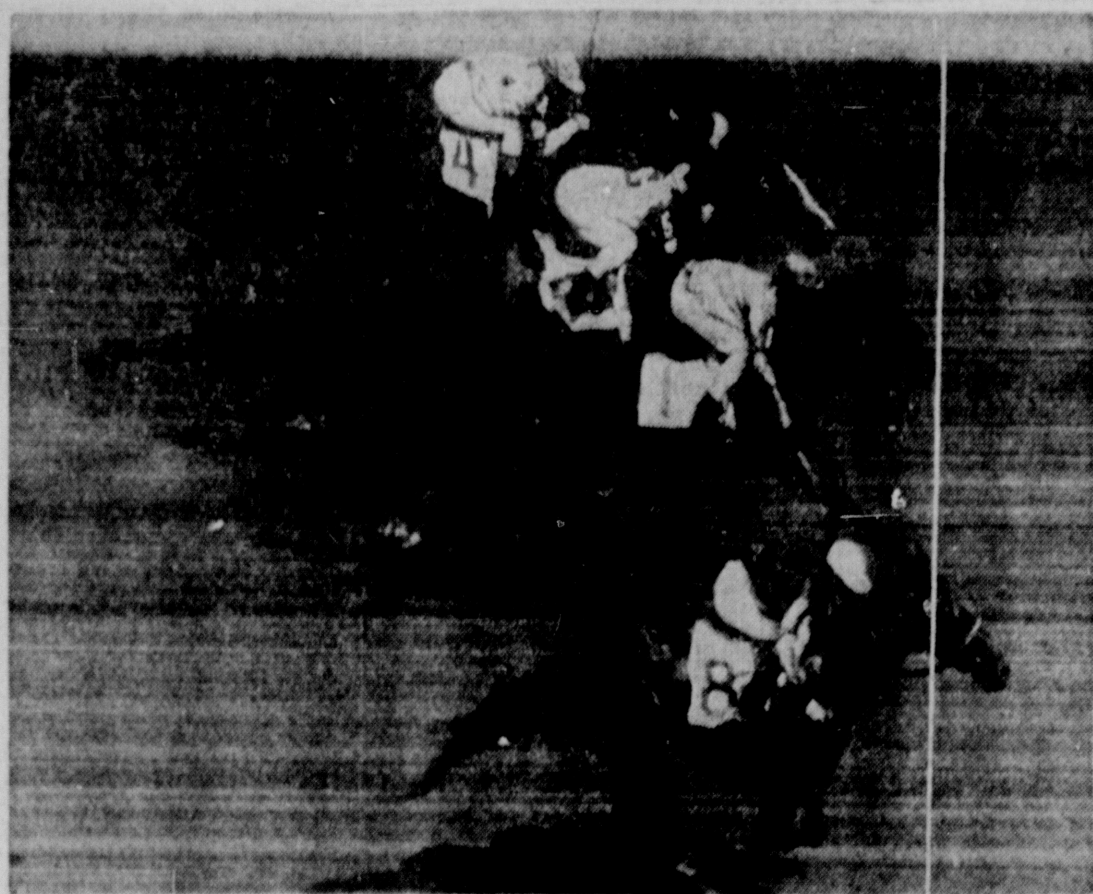

Opening day ceremonies got under way when John H. Mosner, the association's official greeter, introduced Miss Helen Paxton, of Union Grove, who will reign as queen over the racing meet. Flag raising exercises followed.

IT'S CHIN WAG IN THE THIRD—Four horses were pretty well bunched at the wire in the third race at Fairgo yesterday and this shot by the Fitzpatrick Photo Service separated them in the following order: Chin Wag (8) first; Pilate Queen (1) second; Nobena (5) third and Kilauea (4) fourth. Charles M. Clark rode the winner which returned $13.40 for $2 in the five furlongs event. Chin Wag, a 2-year-old filly is owned by Ewart Johnston.

Detroit Wins 6th Straight

Killbrow's Error Decides 3-2 Battle

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (AP)—Rookie third baseman Harmon Killebrew bobbled Harvey Kuenn's bounce with the bases loaded in the ninth inning today and enabled the Detroit Tigers to defeat the Washington Senators, 3-2.

The Tigers, winning their sixth in a row, had filled the bases off reliever Camilo Pascual with a pair of walks around an infield single. Pascual took the loss, his 16th against 6 victories.

Billy Hoelt won his 18th game although the Nats reached him for 11 safeties, including Roy Sievers' 28th home run in the fifth with none aboard. Hoelt has lost 12.

After the Tigers scored in the third on Charlie Maxwell's run-producing single, the Nats tied it in the fourth on a double by Lyle Luttrel and a single by Eddie Yost.

Sievers sent the Senators ahead with his homer but the Tigers knotted it in the sixth. Rookie Evelio Lopez, making his first major league start, was removed in the sixth after Al Kaline walked, stole second, took third on catcher Eddie Fitzgerald's bad throw and scored on Earl Torgeson's single.

Basilio Regains Title, Stops Saxton In Ninth

Wins On Technical KO In Bloody Bout At Syracuse, N. Y.

By JACK HAND

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Carmen Basilio split Johnny Saxton's lip and raked his body and head with wicked punches tonight to recapture the world welterweight title on a technical knockout in 1:31 of the ninth round of a bloody rout at War Memorial Auditorium.

The crazy-faced, ex-Marine from nearby Canastota knelt and blessed himself in midring after Referee Al Berl stopped the uneven struggle with Saxton careening along the ropes near a neutral corner.

Tears flowed from Carmen's eyes as he tasted ample revenge for the loss of his title at Chicago last March 14 when he claimed he was "robbed."

It was a one-sided bout with Basilio dominating the action as he drove the out-gunned Saxton from corner to corner.

All three officials had it 7-1 in favor of Basilio after eight rounds, each giving the second to the 26-year-old New Yorker. The AP card also was 7-1.

Basilio crumpled Saxton's body with searing punches and shook him up as early as the fourth. It was the Basilio of old, ever-charging and shifting his fire from body to head as the opening developed.

Saxton Gets Belting

A long right to the jaw staggered Saxton at the one-minute mark of the ninth and he almost went down, grabbing weakly at the top strand of the ropes in glassy-eyed retreat. Sensing the kill, the 29-year-old Basilio slammed Saxton into a neutral corner and rocked him with a hurricane of blows.

When Saxton finally escaped from that onslaught, he ran head-on into another furious storm as Basilio chased him into the opposite neutral corner. Saxton gave way and was careening along the ropes in the direction of Basilio's corner when Referee Berl stepped between them.

The near sellout crowd roared in delight as the local favorite finally achieved his ambition of winning back the title he lost only six months ago on a hotly disputed decision at Chicago.

Yankees Lose, 7-4

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 12 (AP)—The inevitable happened tonight when the Kansas City Athletics defeated the New York Yankees, 7-4, for their first victory over the league leaders here this season.

Louis Skizas and Eddie Robinson smote home runs to account for five of the A's runs.

Boston Knocks White Sox Out Of Third Place

Red Sox Beat Pale Hose 14th Time, 4-1

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Boston's Red Sox ousted the Chicago White Sox from third place in the American League race today by whipping the Chicagoans for the 14th time in 21 games, 4-1. They now lead them by a half game in the standings.

Frank Sullivan, towering right hander who had been knocked out in four previous starts against the White Sox, held them to five hits and one unearned run for his 13th victory. His mates supported him with an 11-hit attack against Jack Harshman featuring Jackie Jensen's 19th home run.

Billy Goodman, Red Sox second baseman, suffered a strained tendon in his right knee in the first inning and will be lost to the club for a week. He opened the game by drawing a base on balls and was injured while running to third on Harshman's wild throw on a sacrifice bunt by Billy Klaus. Dick Gernert's single scored Milt Bolling, who ran for Goodman, and Klaus scored on a sacrifice fly by Jensen.

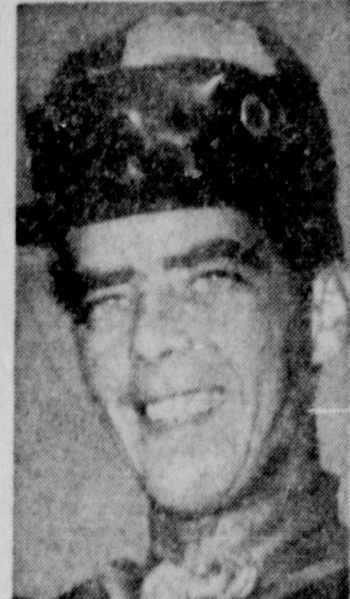

Boston picked up a run in the third when Ted Williams singled, moved up on a wild pitch and scored on a double by Jim Piersall. The White Sox got that one back in the fourth with the help of an error. Jim Rivera singled and, with two out, scored on Klaus' overthrow on Luis Aparicio's infield hit.

Jensen's homer came with the bases empty in the eighth.

Milwaukee Tops Brooklyn, 8-7, Breaks First Place Tie

Bill Bruton, Adcock Drive In Five Runs

Reliever Bob Buhl Scores 8th Win Of Season Over Brooks

BROOKLYN, Sept. 12 (AP)—Bill Bruton and Joe Adcock teamed up today to blast the Milwaukee Braves back into undisputed possession of first place in the hot National League race. Between them they batted in five of the runs the Braves needed to beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 8-7.

The last meeting of the season between the two contenders, played before 22,327 hysterical fans, was a see-saw free-for-all from which the ace starting pitchers, Lew Burdette of the Braves and Don Newcombe of the Dodgers, quickly departed. In all, the Dodgers used six pitchers and the Braves five.

Adcock hit his 37th home run of the year in the sixth with Eddie Mathews on base and tied a National League record for most home runs against one club in one season—13.

Bruton, in addition to his game winning single in the eighth that scored Adcock and broke a 7-7 tie, lashed a triple in the second that scored Adcock and Bobby Thomson.

Entering the game tied with the Dodgers, the Braves now are back in front, one full game ahead. As the result of the New York Giants beating the Cincinnati Reds, the top teams of the league, each with 15 games left to play, stand:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.	GB
Milwaukee	84	55	.604
Brooklyn	83	56	.597	1
Cincinnati	81	58	.583	3

The Dodgers won last night, 4-2, behind Sal Maglie to move into tie with the Braves, and today's victory puts Milwaukee right back where it was before the two game series started.

Lead Changes Hands

The lead kept changing hands throughout the game. Brooklyn got off with a rush with three runs in the first, Milwaukee came back with four in the second, and Roy Campanella tied it up in the bottom of the second with his 18th home run of the year. Adcock's homer in the sixth put the Braves in front 6-4 and when Del Crandall lashed his 15th homer of the year in the seventh it looked as if it were all over. But the Dodgers came back with three in the bottom of the seventh, two scoring on Danny O'Connell's error on Sandy Amoros' grounder.

Then Bruton came up with his all-important scoring single in the eighth.

The Dodgers died hard. In the ninth with two out Jackie Robinson singled to left, but Amoros could only hit a grounder that forced Robinson.

Buhl Is Winner

Bob Buhl was the winning pitcher, making his season's record 17-8. Eight of those victories were over the Dodgers. Of the 22 games played by the two rivals for the 1956 pennant, Milwaukee won 12 and Brooklyn 10.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all of our friends and neighbors for their kindness following the death of our loved one, John Muir. We especially wish to thank Rev. Brooks Henry for his faithfulness and compassion. Also the nurses and orderlies of the Miner's Hospital, and those who donated the use of their cars and seats. General tributes: The Muir Family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our wife and mother, Edna F. (Dayton) Muir, who passed away September 13, 1955. We do not lose the ones we love. They only go before. Where there is everlasting life and there the soul will always live. And peace is everywhere. We do not miss the ones we love. God takes them in His care. Sadly missed by Husband and Children.

Get Out Vote, GOP Leaders Are Told

Sens. Butler, Beall, Rep. Hyde Predict Republican Victory

Republican leaders of Allegany County were told last night their job during the next seven weeks will be the gruelling task of getting out the vote.

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, who is seeking his third term in Congress, said 1956 will not be the spectacular campaign of 1952 but a job of organization and hard work.

"The Democratic party," he said, "claims to be the party of the people, but when a big vote turns out, we win."

Confident of a victory in his Sixth District campaign, Rep. Hyde lauded Vice President Nixon, predicting he will be "one of the great leaders of the nation."

He termed propaganda against Nixon "an astonishing piece of brainwashing."

Cites Maine Victories

Referring to Democratic victories in Maine, Senator J. Glenn Beall told the GOP workers the party is "again on trial" and saw in the votes a parallel between Maine and Maryland.

In any state with a two-party system, Sen. Beall said, people will vote for the candidates rather than the party.

It is a gratifying thing, he remarked, since without Democratic votes, no Republican could hold a statewide office.

Republicans have won in Maryland because of the work they have done, Sen. Beall said in introducing Senator John Marshall Butler who, Beall said, "has done a tremendous job in the Senate."

Beall Backs Butler

"When the chips are down and when Maryland's welfare is at stake, we vote together," Sen. Beall said of his Senate colleague.

Beall cited the important work of Butler in the Senate and declared a "vote for Butler is a vote for the administration."

"In Butler we have a man we can work with, Beall said in pledging that he and Butler will work together for Maryland.

"All of our disagreements have been nice," Sen. Butler replied, saying "there has never been a time when the interests of Maryland was involved that we have not pulled as a team."

Elect Ike Again

The paramount objective of the election, Sen. Butler told Edmund S. Burke, who was host at the meeting attended by some 50 Republican leaders of Allegany County, is to re-elect President Eisenhower.

It would be tragic, he said, to bring to an end the policies which have brought peace and prosperity to the nation.

He said Maryland's seat in the Senate at stake this year may be the seat which signifies whether President Eisenhower's program is to be a success or failure.

During his informal address, Sen. Butler related high points of his work in the Senate toward revitalizing the American Merchant Marine and as a watchdog for the constitutional rights of the people.

More Work To Be Done

Rep. Hyde also referred to the Maine election, saying the situation can be rationalized but "is not something from which we can get comfort."

Urging hard organization work, he pointed out that "We Republicans may not have done the job in some places we should have" and may be fighting against the 20 years when Democrats were gaining strength at the grass roots.

Both Rep. Hyde and Senator Butler will wind up a week's campaign in Western Maryland this week.

Delegation Plans Series Of Meetings

Public hearings on legislative proposals will be arranged by Allegany County legislators during October and November, according to a joint announcement yesterday by State Senator Charles M. See and Delegate Lester B. Reed, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation.

Any individual, group or organization wishing to discuss proposed legislation with Senator See and the Allegany County Delegation is asked to mail the request to Senator See at 508 Forster Avenue here as promptly as possible.

Sen. See and Del. Reed said requests should be made as soon as possible so that the schedule of meetings can get under way soon after October 1 and be completed by November 30.

They said every attempt will be made to work out a satisfactory schedule, adding that meetings will have to be sandwiched in between official duties of the legislators for the Legislative Council.

The meetings are being arranged in preparation for the next session of the General Assembly, which opens the first Wednesday of January.

This will be a 90-day session, the legislators said, and all types of legislation can be introduced. (Only bills of statewide interest can be considered at 30-day sessions.)

All of the meetings will be joint sessions, attended by Senator See and the Allegany County Delegation.

Belgian Congo Color Slides Will Be Shown At Church

A program of color slide pictures of Africa, showing the natives, animals, game hunting, mission schools, churches, leper villages and other scenes will be shown on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. during the worship service at Cresaptown Methodist Church.

The pictures, which were taken by William R. Harvey Jr., director of the Kapanga Mission School in the Belgian Congo, will be shown to the congregation by his mother, Mrs. William R. Harvey, a member of Barton Methodist Church.

Harvey is a three-year missionary and will return to the United States in August 1957 to receive his seminary training, preparing for full-time service in the Methodist ministry.

Smith said no training schedule will be maintained at the camp, nor will any meetings be planned during the three-day period.

All adults who registered in the scouting and cubbing program for the council are eligible to attend.

The scouters will have the chance to exchange ideas on scouting and to make plans for other activities in future months.

No work of any kind will be done, Smith said.

Those who do not wish to spend the whole three days at the camp are welcome to come and stay as long as they can.

No reservations are needed but those who plan to spend a night at the camp should bring their own bedding. Meals will be simple and will be cooked by the men.

This is the first time for the event and it is expected that there will be a large turnout. Leaders from all the six counties which make up Potomac Council have indicated they plan to attend.

Smith said those scouters who have never been able to spend much time at the camp should try to take part in the program.

Ridgeley School Building Jobs Get Started

Industrial Arts Addition Begun

A one-story concrete block building which will cost approximately $21,920 is under construction adjoining the rear of the Ridgeley High School. It will house the industrial arts classes now being conducted in a frame dwelling on the school property.

Melvin M. Heiskell, principal, said yesterday the building is expected to be ready for occupancy by December 1.

When the new structure is occupied, the present building will be razed, as will another building purchased by the Mineral County school board in order to make room for a new football field.

Pouring Footer

The work on the new building is being done by the Ray Coffman Construction Company of Keyser. The footer of the 80-by-60-foot structure is now being poured, Heiskell added.

The building will include a classroom, two smaller rooms for an office and storage facilities, and a larger room where the machinery used in industrial arts will be set up.

Ceramics has been added to the curriculum this year and other arts include woodworking, wrought iron, leather and jewelry work under the supervision of Howard Smith, a graduate of West Virginia University who holds a masters degree.

With the completion of the new building, the frame dwelling and another building on the school property will be razed and room made for a new football field for the school's athletic program.

Room For Gridiron

Heiskell said the Board of Education purchased the Vandegrift property on the premises and the occupants have vacated the building.

With the razing of the two buildings there will be ample space for the football field. Most of the present field has been taken up by the flood control work in Ridgeley.

Heiskell said new showers and dressing rooms are being constructed for boys of the school and will be located adjoining the new football field.

Heiskell said it is hoped that the new field will be ready when the 1957 football season rolls around.

Allegheny Airlines Sets New Passenger Record

Allegheny Airlines flew 6,692,000 passenger miles last month for a new August traffic record, Leslie O. Barnes, president of the company announced.

"August passenger traffic," Barnes stated, "was up 11 per cent over last year and, despite the steel strike and a dropoff in resort travel occasioned by unusually cool weather throughout the Middle Atlantic Area, was the heaviest in Allegheny's history."

During the eight months ended August 31, Allegheny flew 42,266,000 passenger miles for a 16.4 per cent increase over the same period last year.

City May Pay High Interest On Bond Issues

Market At Highest Point Since 1953

By C. WESLEY BLACKBURN News Staff Writer

The Mayor and Council plans to sell two bond issues totaling $300,000 on September 25. The bids will probably make their eyeballs pop.

The bonds will be sold, Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, points out, at a time when the market for municipal bonds is the highest since June 1953.

At that time, the index for municipal obligations was at the 3.09 per cent mark.

Last November 15, the City of Cumberland sold a $750,000 Water Department bond issue at an interest rate averaging 2.4047 per cent. Funds were used to finance the North Branch water line which provides water for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and for completion of current modernization of the city's filter plant.

Pays Top Rate

The only issue marketed this year was a $600,000 flood control bond issue, sold January 31 at an average interest rate of 2.53201 per cent.

A straw in the wind in the current investment market was the sale Tuesday by the Cumberland Housing Authority of $369,000 of temporary notes due next March.

The low bid called for 2.02 per cent interest and the previous high paid by the authority for short term notes was 1.79 per cent.

The interest on these notes, like city obligations, is free from Federal income taxes.

The bids which will be opened on September 25 at 10 a. m. include a $150,000 issue of Cumberland Memorial Hospital Bonds of 1956 and a $150,000 Cumberland Flood Project issue.

Has Paid 5 Per Cent

The hospital bonds are for an addition to the Nurses Home and will mature between 1965 and 1975. The flood bonds—the city hopes they will be all that will be needed to complete the project—will mature between 1969 and 1976.

Gibson said the city has stipulated, in recent years, that interest shall not exceed four per cent.

Cumberland has paid as high as five per cent, he said, back in the 1920s. Bonds still outstanding cost the city interest ranging from one per cent and as high as 4½ per cent.

In mid-August, prices for general municipal obligations climbed to an average of 2.98 per cent, and revenue issues over three per cent.

Will Cost More

Cumberland has never paid the premium for revenue bonds because it has pledged the full faith and credit of the city toward its water bonds and the $2,000,000 issue raised to finance the sewage treatment plant.

These bonds are actually revenue-plus, since they are to be repaid from water rents and sewage charges, but in the event revenues from these sources are not sufficient, the city must levy against property to make up the difference.

Gibson said the market for municipal obligations is still slipping and that the city will, in all probability, have to pay more for the upcoming issue than it has since the 1930s.

Children Are Again Warned Of Blasting Caps Dangers

The Cumberland Fire Department under Chief Virgil A. Parker has launched its annual safety campaign to protect the community's younger children against the dangers of blasting caps, explosives and matches.

Aimed primarily at the highly dangerous blasting caps, the campaign has gotten under way with the placement in local school buildings of numerous posters and pamphlets warning of the danger and pointing out how to recognize it.

Noting that "too many children get injured in these accidents every year," Chief Parker has planned a program to conduct safety discussions with the elementary school children at assembly programs.

Chief Parker said he will endeavor to have members of the Fire Department visit the schools and point out the danger of blasting caps, how to recognize a cap, and what to do when one is found.

What They Look Like

The color posters which have been placed in the school buildings show what the blasting caps look like, both with and without fuses.

The use of the caps is explained, and children are requested to report immediately the finding of any of the dangerous explosives.

In addition to the school program, Chief Parker points out that everyone should be aware of the hazard of these explosive detonators.

"Do your youngsters know what a blasting cap looks like?" he asks. By explaining the danger to them a parent may save an eye, a hand, or even a life.

Blasting caps, the chief said, are small metal cylinders about one quarter of an inch in diameter and range from one to five inches in length. They are loaded with a powerful and sensitive explosive charge.

How They Work

The caps are of two types. One has an open end and is fired by flame from a fuse which is inserted into the open end. It often is mistaken for an empty .22 caliber cartridge. The other type has two wires extending from one end and is fired by an electrical current.

It could be mistaken for a firecracker or a pencil holder.

Either of these types of caps, if struck with a hammer or rock, or placed in or near a flame, can kill or injure anyone standing within 200 feet.

What They Do

These caps are necessary to set off dynamite for mining, building dams and bridges, opening roads, clearing forests, and doing other important jobs in agriculture and industry.

Sometimes they are carelessly stored, lost or stolen and are found or taken by young children. Explosions frequently occur and the child may lose some fingers, be blinded, or even lose his life.

Persons using these caps can be the best protectors in avoiding these accidents, Parker explained, by keeping them under strong lock and key.

Chief Parker went on to ask that finders of any blasting cap should leave it alone and immediately contact a fireman, policeman or other law enforcement officer and report the incident.

What To Do In CD Alert

An air raid alert will be held in Cumberland today in conjunction with National Civil Defense Week.

William G. Barger, county CD director, informs residents this is what to do:

1. ALERT SIGNAL—Steady blast of 3 to 5 minutes on sirens, whistles, horns. This gives 15 minutes or longer notice of emergency. Taking immediate cover or stopping traffic not necessary. If away from home, try to return, tune in AM radio to Conelrad or local station. Obey police and CD instructions. Do not use telephone. Keep calm. Do not panic.

2. TAKE COVER SIGNAL—Wailing tone or short blasts for three minutes, indicating emergency or attack minutes away. Take cover at home or elsewhere. If in a car, pull off road, stop and cover. Stay until word is issued to proceed which will come by radio and not by signal.

The take cover period of the alert will last 5 minutes.

Civic Problems On Agenda Of So. End Group

Several problems of civic importance are on the agenda of the South Cumberland Businessmen's Association for action during the next fiscal year.

The organization's executive committee is urging all members to attend the annual dinner meeting at 6 p. m. Tuesday, September 18, at Ali Ghan Country Club. Guest speaker at the meeting will be Charles E. Borum, Federal Communication Commission representative.

An election of four directors will also be held, from a list of eight qualified nominees.

The civic questions, described by the association's bulletin as "issues which warrant the continued attention of a live-wire organization" include flooding of the Virginia Avenue underpass, problems of increasing taxation, a new bridge at Wiley Ford, street repairs and improvements, and several items of state legislation as well as certain city services.

The bulletin notes that the Virginia Avenue subway was flooded again August 28.

Legislators Want Rt. 40 In U.S. Plan

Hughes Resolution Gets Unanimous Council Approval

The Legislative Council of the Maryland General Assembly has unanimously voted approval of a resolution to include U. S. Route 40 from Hancock to Washington, Pa., in the Federal Interstate Highway System.

Delegate George R. Hughes of Allegany County, at meetings yesterday and Tuesday in Baltimore, offered the resolution which was adopted by the council.

The Legislative Council also is interested in prompt improvement and modernization of all Maryland highways, especially those which constitute the primary roads system.

Senator J. Glenn Beall is attempting to have the Federal Interstate System revised to include Route 40 from Hancock to Washington.

Seeks W. Va., Pa. Help

He has called on government and state highway officials of West Virginia and Pennsylvania as well as Maryland to join him in urging the Federal Bureau of Public Roads to make this revision as soon as possible in order that the Cumberland area will be part of the interstate system.

In his resolution, Delegate Hughes pointed out that under the new law Maryland will get about a half-billion dollars in a 13-year program for the improvement and modernization of highways allotted for the Federal system in Maryland. The roads were earmarked in 1947 through the joint action of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and the Maryland State Roads Commission.

Since then many of the highway needs have been met in various programs and the needs of today are different from those of 1947, he said.

First U. S. Highway

Hughes said Route 40 is the first national highway in the United States, the first highway building project in which the federal government participated, and has served motorists of Maryland and the nation for 150 years.

Route 40 from the Atlantic Coast to Denver, Colo., a distance of about 2,100 miles, is included in the interstate highway system under the 1956 Federal Highway Act with the exception of the 135 miles between Hancock and Washington, Pa.

This section of road, Hughes pointed out, which is excepted from the federal system, is historically and actually the "gateway to the west."

Traffic Boosted

Although the traffic burden has increased tremendously between Hancock and the Pennsylvania State Line major repairs during the period have improved less than 20 miles of the highway.

Under the present plan of the Federal Highway System traffic would be directed from this stretch of U. S. Route 40 in Maryland—which is toll free—to the Pennsylvania Turnpike, a privately owned toll road.

The Legislative Council is firmly convinced, Hughes said, that the Federal Interstate Highway System would be vastly improved and would more efficiently serve motorists of the nation by being included in this system.

Glass Plant Machinery Readied

Workers at the $34,000,000 Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch set lip stones in place with the aid of an overhead crane at the rolling end of the glassmaking tank. The stones are pre-heated before being placed in position. The molten glass then flows over the "lip" into the forming rolls. The first sheet of plate glass emerged from the rolling forms Saturday afternoon, almost two years to the day after the ground was broken in 1954 for construction of the huge plant. Initially the rough glass will be shipped from here to other company plants for grinding and polishing. When the North Branch plant is completed in approximately another year, the entire glass-producing work will be done here.
